

Sarah Elizabeth and Trevor John Linton

Couple wed in June

Sarah Elizabeth Melia and Trevor John Linton were married June 15, 2002, at the Goodland Our Lady of Perpetual Help Catholic Church with Father Basil Torrez officiating the double ring ceremony.

Marty and Kathy Melia of Goodland are her parents, and Greg and Sherri Linton of Glen Elder are his parents. Kay and Marilyn Melia and the late Herb and Alice Rempe of Goodland are her grandparents. Max and Marj Eberle, John and Carol Stover and Everett Linton, all of Glen Elder, are his grandparents.

The bride, wearing a strapless bridal gown of matte satin, was escorted by her father. The gown with a semi-chapel train was accented with a satin, beaded cording and had a princess bodice with a wide satin band.

The bride wore a beaded headpiece with a fingertip length double-tiered veil of imported illusion and carried a bouquet of long-stemmed pink and white roses.

Angie Labertew of Paradise served as her matron of honor, and Nadine Brazda of Manhattan served as her maid of honor. Marcy Melia of Manhattan, sister of the bride; Tiffany Schroeder of Beloit, sister of the groom; and Colleen Pointer of Houston served as bridesmaids and wore sleeveless periwinkle matte satin gowns.

The groom wore a black tuxedo with a black vest and black French tie. Jarod Jamison of Manhattan served as best man, and Terry Cunningham of Glen Elder; Jeff McPeak of Manhattan, cousin of the groom; Corey Isbell of Manhattan; and Ryan Duskie of Glen Elder were groomsmen. All wore black tuxedos with silver vests and silver French ties.

Candlelighters were Alison Wedermeyer of Olathe, cousin of the bride; and Kelly McPeak of Glen Elder, cousin of the groom. Kelsey Cherryhomes of Conifer, Colo., cousin of the bride was the flower girl, and Ryan Wedermeyer of Olathe, cousin of the bride, was the ring bearer.

Andrew and Daniel Melia of Goodland, brothers of the bride; Brad Schroeder of Beloit, brother-in-law of the groom; and Devin McBlair of Golden, Colo., brother of the groom were ushers. Shawna Drake of Olathe and Jada Johnson of Colby, both friends of the bride, were guest book attendants.

Tara Eberle of Hutchinson, cousin of the groom, distributed wedding programs and bubbles that showered the couple upon leaving the church. Kimmi Smith of Denver and Amy Mashburn of Dallas, friends of the bride, were gift attendants.

Kay Melia read scriptures during the ceremony, and Landon Wedermeyer of Olathe, cousin of the bride, and Michael Middleton were altar servers. Ron and Betty Barkley and Ron Weber were eucharistic ministers. Music was provided by GERALYN PARKER, organist, and Jessica Kashka and Janet Redlin, soloists.

A dinner, reception and dance was held at Safari Steakhouse following the ceremony. Don and Lori McKenzie and Roy and Jody Winkel, friends of the couple, hosted the event and led the wedding march.

The bride graduated from Goodland High School and Kansas State University and is completing a dietetic internship at Penrose-St. Francis Hospital in Colorado Springs. The groom graduated from Waconda East High School and Kansas State University. He is a participant service associate at TRowe Price Services Inc. in Colorado Springs.

The couple honeymooned in Colorado and are home in Colorado Springs.

Ed Asner gets Kansas arts honor

KANSAS CITY, Kan. (AP) — Edward Asner, who played grouchy newsman Lou Grant on television's long-running "Mary Tyler Moore Show", will be awarded Kansas' top arts honor.

Asner, 72, will return to his native Kansas City, Kan., Sept. 20 to receive the Kansas Arts Commission's Distinguished Arts Award.

The award is given annually to a native of Kansas who has made significant contributions to some form of art, whether it be performance or education, said Martin Bauer, president of the commission, and the award also is in recognition of Asner's efforts to promote and encourage arts in education.

Graves still not endorsing Shallenburger as successor

By John Hanna

Associated Press Writer

TOPEKA — Republican Gov. Bill Graves still won't publicly endorse State Treasurer Tim Shallenburger, the GOP nominee to succeed Graves in office.

The moderate governor and the conservative gubernatorial nominee haven't met since the Aug. 6 primary election. Graves skipped a Republican "unity" breakfast the next day.

Graves' withholding of his endorsement has raised questions about how many moderate Republicans would support Shallenburger in his race against Democrat Kathleen Sebelius, the insurance commissioner.

One prominent moderate, Lt. Gov.

Gary Sherrer, said Tuesday he doesn't plan to endorse the state treasurer. He would not say which candidate would receive his vote but said if he quickly endorsed Shallenburger, "It would feel like I betrayed the things I believed in."

Sherrer and some other moderates have chafed at the notion of endorsing Shallenburger, citing repeated criticism by Shallenburger and other conservatives of the Graves administration.

On Tuesday, reporters at the Statehouse asked Graves when he planned to endorse Shallenburger.

Graves replied: "I don't have any comments."

Shallenburger spokesman Bob Murray said the GOP gubernatorial nominee also is declining comment.

"As far as an endorsement goes, we'll continue to hold off on commenting until he can speak with the governor," Murray said. "If and when a meeting is set up, we'll be there."

No meeting has yet been scheduled. Shallenburger had planned to be present Monday morning in the governor's office for the signing of a proclamation honoring the state's college savings program, which the treasurer's office administers. However, the event and other proclamation signings were canceled.

Graves' staff said other business prompted the governor to go into meetings at the ceremonies were planned. "We were very busy," the governor said.

Murray said Shallenburger is taking the governor's explanation at face value.

"I'm not into reading things into things," Murray said.

Shallenburger has public endorsements from other prominent Republicans, including his two primary opponents, Senate President Dave Kerr, of Hutchinson, and Wichita Mayor Bob Knight.

U.S. Sen. Sam Brownback endorsed Shallenburger before the primary, and U.S. Sen. Pat Roberts has called for party unity. U.S. Rep. Jerry Moran also has said he will support Shallenburger.

But Sebelius supporters are hoping a rift among Republicans remains.
