Pancake feed at center a success

• goodland gazette

The busy week is over. The senior center pancake feed appears to have been a success. I want to thank all within the community who took time to show up and enjoy the food.

The bake sale didn't last long, as the sales were very brisk for the first hour or two. Again, thanks for the community support to this and any other fund raisers in the community.

The First Christian Church will have its fall pie/soup lunch and craft/bake sale Saturday. The craft part starts at 10 a.m. and the meal at 11. I would like to thank in advance those who help these folks raise some money for their church activities.

The football season has been much better for the Cowboys this year. There are only a couple of games left; let's hope the season will end on a win for these also.

My calendar doesn't show any birthdays or anniversaries for this week. I'm sure there are some, and I want to wish anyone having one the best.

Illness continues to plague many in the community. Some are in the hospital while others are in nursing homes or recovering at home.

Not wanting to miss anyone, I'm extending a blanket wish of good health to any and all needing our continuing support through prayers, cards or visits.

I have had to do some things at the Beynon house to get ready for the signing of the final papers. Having done all those things, I need to do a few similar things at my house.

I'm getting to be like the rabbit in Alice in Wonderland. I'm late, I'm late, I'm late for a very important date. I simply don't understand where and how this time flies away from me. Others say the same thing, so it must be in the air. Fall is definitely here, as you can not only feel or smell it, but also see it all around.

Jonathan mowed the lawns but told me he would do it once more when the leaves are down. Looking out the door, it will be this weekend, as the lawn is covered with all those pretty gold and brown leaves.

It is definitely fall, as I had my sprinkler system drained for the season. God willing, Tony will turn it on come spring. I had him do the same thing at the other house. Time is coming closer and closer when everything will be final.

It is late, as I finish this column. The weatherman on television said there would be fog and drizzle during the day Tuesday, turning to snow.

There's nothing further to add, so I will get this ready for the paper. I'm late, I'm late, I'm late. See you all next week.

4-H news

The Sunflower 4-H Club met Monday, Oct. 21, at the United Methodist Church. President Ryan Gausman called the meeting to order at 7 p.m.

Vice President Jason Krayca led the club in the Pledge of Allegiance and the 4-H Pledge. To get everyone in the spirit of the season, Ryan Irvin taught club members a song called, "Jolly Ole Pumpkin," and Kathy Wood led the group in singing a song called, "Trick-or-Treat."

Roll call was answered by 22 members, one leader, 14 parents and two guests.

Following the business meeting, the election of officers was held. New club officers will be installed at the Achievement Awards Program Sunday, Nov. 3.

Members were reminded of the deadline for enrollment of Friday, Nov. 1. Committee duties and program assignments for this year were handled at the meeting.

During the club program, Melissa

Holloway shared a special project about her nine-month-old llama, Diego. Club members were eager to hear Corbin Townsend's talk about his hobby of paint ball.

Kendra Promise informed the club of the current events in Iraq. After the program, Ryan Irvin led the club in a game called the Mummy Wrap. Spooky refreshments were served by the Gausman and Krayca families.

The next club meeting will be Monday, Nov. 18.
