Weather has been unpredictable

It certainly has been a strange week of weather. As the saying goes, hang around, and it will soon change.

We've had no sun but plenty of wind, cold, rain, sleet and snow. My trees got bare of their leaves in just a matter of days.

Jonathan McClung told me, as he was mowing the lawn, he would just mow one more time for the season after the leaves are down. They are down but too wet to pick up at this time.

Speaking of the McClungs, we have a new neighbor. Ashton Joy came home from the hospital following her birth on Oct. 24. She's as cut as a button and a joy to her three baby-sitters, Ana, Jonathan and Jonah.

Until the news wears off, she lacks for no one to hold her when she wrinkles her cute button nose. I'm happy to say Laura is getting stronger each day and soon will be her former self.

It's been a tough three months for her, and I hope the future will be less stressful. Congratulations to one and all.

My friend Lucille Nash should be home from a short visit with her son Terry and his wife Linda by the time you read this. I hope she had a fun time, which she always does.

My friend David Branda has gotten back from a few days in California to be greeted with this cold weather. It's good to see him anyway.

My calendar is short of special days. Alyssia Brady and Doug Hilty both have birthdays this last week of October. Happy birthday to both and any others.

I fear Halloween night will be a cold, wet night for the trick-or-treaters. Be careful, kids, as you make your rounds. I treated my kids at school on Monday, and several said they would make a point of coming Thursday evening.

I doubt I'll make it to the football game, since it will be cold, and also trick-or-treat night. My best to the coaching staff and the kids. Good luck to them as they advance into the playoffs.

A couple of deaths the past few days were of two ladies from our office. I always enjoyed their visits at the office, as both were very gracious and neat ladies.

Beryl Owens and her husband Bud always kept me posted on one of their loves, horses. When I saw Bud the other evening, the first thing we talked about was the "lost horse." He'll know what I mean. They were always side by side in everything, since Bud's eyesight was diminishing. My sympathy to Beryl's immediate family and their many friends.

Cornelia Baird, a lady of grace and kindness, was a great person to have the chance to know. I knew their two daughters, Erma and Betty Jo. Erma I know better since she and LaVelle live in the Brewster area.

I watched the four Palmgren girls grow up, marry and now have families of their own. Ben, always quiet spoken, was a true gentleman, maybe a farmer at heart but a kind soul. Now, they are both gone, and we are mourning all these losses. My sincere sympathy to the Baird family and their friends.

Another death over the weekend was that of Bob Irvin. I didn't know him well but always enjoyed visiting with him. To the family, my condolences on this loss. Many of these families know that God is with them during these next trying months ahead.

A phone call to tell me that Ricky Straube succumbed to the injuries received a few days earlier was a shock. I didn't know the young man but did know his grandparents and mom from their days in Goodland.

Many of you readers knew Ken and DeEtta Knorr and their daughters. Kin was the mother of this young man who lost his life much too early. I pass the intersection where his accident occurred many times on my way to the canyon and have always felt a tinge of threat at that spot.

It is a fast-moving highway with entering traffic from both north and south. It's hard to believe that this happened, but I want the family to know I feel very sorry for them as they struggle with his death and the death of the young lady who was with him.

Knowing the family, they all too well know that God will be with them as will their many friends and relatives during these troublesome times.

I've nothing further to add, so I will close for now and see you all in November. Take care of yourselves; treat the kids carefully and keep an eye out for your elderly neighbors as we go into the cold season.

Thanks to all who stop me to comment on my column, especially the elderly gentleman who stops at the post office to tell me it is the first thing he looks for in the paper.

He told me to keep up and have more of those articles and things and people in the past. Thank you, kind sir.

Annual turkey supper set for Wednesday

The United Methodist Women will have their annual turkey supper from 5:30-7:30 Central Time Wednesday in the Fellowship Hall of the Methodist Church.

This delicious meal has been served annually for more than 30 years, and donations will be taken to fund the missions that these ladies support. This is the only money-making project they have each year.

The October meeting of the United Methodist Women was held Wednesday, Oct. 23, in the Fellowship Hall. President Eva Lou Selby called the meeting to order, and the six members attending recited the Purpose.

Eva Lou shared a prayer of Mother Theresa that was on a bookmarker she had received at the Hays District annual meeting. The report from the Response magazine was given by Lola Marrs.

Reports on the Hays District annual meeting on Saturday, Oct. 19, in Colby were given by Eva Lou Selby, Bonnie Reid and Roberta Luckert. Nadine Kammer also attended the district meeting but was not present at this meeting.

Our unit received certificates for being a Mission Today Unit and a Five-Star Unit. The reading recognition certificate was also presented. Final plans for the turkey supper were discussed.

Following the adjournment of the business meeting, Bonnie Reid and Barb Springsteen presented a meditation "Rich Woman, Poor Women." This was a part of the Bible study on James. Bonnie led the group in the study from 4-6 p.m. before the meeting.

Roberta and Lola were hostesses for a salad supper that was enjoyed before the business meeting.

The World Thank Offering was collected. If you were unable to attend the meeting, you can still give your World

Thank Offering to Roberta Luckert.

As everyone else, I am very grateful that the sniper situation in the east seems to be solved. I appreciate the news that keeps us informed, but it seems that many of the newscasters are quick to give others information that might mean harm to America, a blueprint on our weak points.

Some so-called experts pop up out of nowhere with questionable information as well. I'm a little dubious of the "expert" title given to anyone who is not currently working in a legitimate job.

But, the ones who are working so hard, such as Police Chief Charles Moose, are true heroes, and I'm glad America has men like that.

Coleen Crumrine left for Ponca City, Okla., Thursday, Oct. 17. She visited her brother Gene and his wife Lila from Thursday until Monday. Then, she left Ponca City and went to Wakita, Okla., to visit friends there, which is where she spent her early years. She returned home on Tuesday, Oct. 22.

Cornelia Baird died Friday, Oct. 25. Her services were on Monday at Koons Chapel in Goodland. Our sympathy to the family that Cornelia was so proud of. She will be missed by them and her many friends in this area.

It is good to hear that Doris Mayer is home and recuperating from knee surgery earlier this month. I hope her recovery is swift and complete. It seems like knees are one of the points of many problems, and we need to try to keep them healthy as long as possible. That's why the icy sidewalks are something to be avoided, if possible, but none of us want to be curtailed in our activities.

There are many who have asked about flu shots, and there will be more available at the senior center from 10-11:30 a.m. Tuesday, Nov. 19. If you missed the shots this month come in then and get the protection that is available to keep you from getting the flu.

Roger and I went to Wal-Mart in Goodland the other day, and it was good to run into my niece Denise and her husband Doug Hilty. She said everyone was doing all right, as far as she knew. I hope to find out for myself soon.

She said Doug would be going through that traumatic 50th on the 29th, so Happy Birthday, Doug.

As someone pointed out to my mother on that special occasion, "Just think, you're half a hundred!" She didn't take it too well either.

We did some winterizing; I should say Roger did. I just filled the bird feeders and squirrel feeders.

I doubted we would get the rain predicted, but we got rain and snow both. See you next time.
