

India on high alert today

around the world

By the Associated Press INTERNATIONAL

NEW DELHI, India — India went on high alert today, deploying thousands of police to prevent Hindu-Muslim clashes on the 10th anniversary of the demolition of a 16th century mosque by Hindu extremists.

Fierce riots swept India after the mosque's destruction, killing at least 2,000 people.

Police guarded Hindu temples in the capital New Delhi and other parts of the country today to prevent attacks by Islamic militants, blamed for killing about 50 people in three major temple attacks this year.

Muslims make up 12 percent of India's 1 billion population. They are the largest minority in Hindu-majority India, where religious violence has been escalating. Friday also was the start of Islam's Eid al-Fitr festival marking the end of Ramadan.

Hindu hard-liners said they would hold rallies across the country to celebrate the anniversary of the destruction of the mosque, describing it as a "victory day" for their faith, but few materialized.

Many Hindus believe the mosque in Ayodhya, 345 miles east of New Delhi, was built on the birthplace of Rama, a principal Hindu god. Thousands of Hindu activists tore down the mosque on Dec. 6, 1992 with spades, crowbars and their bare hands.

On Thursday night, police pulled down provocative posters on streets in northern Uttar Pradesh state, where the Dec. 6, 1992 wrecking of the Babri Mosque in Ayodhya still incites passions among both Hindus and Muslims.

MANDA BAY NAVAL BASE, Kenya — Puffs of smoke followed two loud booms, as U.S. Marines sprinted across a secluded airstrip in Kenya. Minutes later, two CH-46 helicopters swooped in and dropped off Kenyan infantrymen in a simulated attack on an anti-aircraft battery.

Although these joint U.S.-Kenyan military exercises have been held since 1996, they have taken on greater significance as Kenya becomes caught in the crossfire of international terrorism.

"We look at (Kenya) as a partner in the Horn of Africa. We have concerns here and they have concerns here," said Col. Richard Mills, commanding officer of the 24th Marine Expeditionary Unit taking part in the war games Thursday.

"The biggest thing they've done is give us access to train in the area," Mills said.

A day after the Marines arrived for "Operation Edged Mallet," three suicide bombers destroyed a hotel in Mombasa, killing themselves, 10 Kenyans and three Israelis.

Almost simultaneously, two shoulder-launched missiles narrowly missed an Israeli charter flight taking off for Tel Aviv from Mombasa.

"Kenya needs to prepare like every nation fighting terrorism, but it's difficult to prepare to fight terrorism because it comes in all forms and all times," said Maj. Gen. Pastor Awitta, Kenya's navy commander.

Although Kenya is seen as stable nation, it borders war-plagued Somalia and Sudan. Their frontiers are porous and poorly policed — a sieve for weapons smuggling.

NATIONAL NEW YORK — The decision on whether to dismiss the convictions of five men in a notorious 1989 rape and beating of a Central Park jogger rests with a state judge now that prosecutors have called for the charges to be tossed out.

The prosecutor's recommendation Thursday contradicted the long-held theory in a case that became a symbol of New York's struggles with crime and race relations in the late 1980s.

For the past decade, it was thought that the white female jogger had been gang-raped and beaten by the five black and Hispanic youths during a "wilding" spree in the park.

Instead, District Attorney Robert Morgenthau said an 11-month re-examination found a DNA sample from the victim's sock pointed to Matias Reyes, a murderer and serial rapist who confessed last January that he alone had attacked the jogger.

Supporters are pressing for an immediate vindication of the defendants, who have completed prison terms of six years to 11 1/2 years for the attack.

"We would urge him to make the decision in the next 24 to 48 hours so this saga of injustice can end," City Councilman Bill Perkins said at a news conference.
