

Brewster Lady Bulldogs advance to Hays sub-state

It's the 'Dog Days' of March this week as the Brewster Lady Bulldogs and the Golden Plains Bulldogs of Rexford advance to the substate round of the Class 1A basketball playoffs.

The Brewster girls are 15-5 now after beating Cheylin in the semifinals 77-48, and Triplains in the regional championship game Saturday, 48-38. Triplains had defeated Golden Plains 85-37 to advance to the final.

The Lady Bulldogs should have their best player back as they advance. Senior Alicia Collett injured an ankle against Cheylin and sat out the regional championship.

Brewster will take on the Grinnell Lady Warriors at 6 p.m. Thursday night (Central Time) in at Felten Middle School, 29th and Fort in Hays.

The Golden Plains Bulldogs won the Class 1A regional boys championship by beating Herndon 64-56 at the Max Jones Fieldhouse on Saturday. In the semifinal games, Herndon had defeated Jennings 69-65, and Golden Plains had beaten Brewster 60-50.

The Bulldogs (12-9) will take on Kensington (14-7) at 7:30 p.m. Friday at Phillipsburg High School.

Lady Bulldog freshman Jalyn Ried battled under the basket while Triplains' Chelsey Moser (5) as Kysha Nichols (23) boxed out Alicia Collett during the Class 1A regional basketball tournament at Max Jones Fieldhouse. Brewster won the game 58-34 and will play Grinnell Friday at Felten Middle School in Hays.

Cowgirls face Pratt in Hays tonight

By Darrel Pattillo

The Goodland Star-News

The Goodland Cowgirls will have to take their home field advantage to Hays tonight.

The Cowboys were to play their first game Monday night at home.

Under ordinary circumstances, the Cowgirls, by virtue of a 15-5 record, would be playing at home in their first game of the Class 4A substate basketball tournament.

However, because Pratt, the Cowgirls' first opponent, is more than 150 miles away, the two teams will meet on neutral ground in Hays at 6 p.m. (all time are Mountain Time) at Hays High School.

"It's a little frustrating," Livengood said. "We earned the right to have the game at home, and to not have that home-court advantage is a little disappointing."

Pratt (7-12) is going to be a tough team for the Cowgirls, Livengood said.

"They're a great defensive team," she said. "They get around on the floor pretty good. It's going to be tough."

If the Cowgirls beat Pratt, they'll play either Larned or Hugoton at 6:30 p.m. Friday night at the Colby Community Building.

Boys

Here are the matchups that were to take place on Monday night: Colby (16-4) versus Ulysses (4-15) at Colby, 7:30 p.m. Scott City (12-7) versus Pratt (9-10) at Scott City,

7 p.m. Larned (14-5) versus Concordia (8-11) at Larned, 7 p.m. Goodland (13-7) versus Hugoton (8-11) at Goodland 6:15 p.m.

The next round for the boys will be on Thursday at the Colby Community Building; game times haven't been announced yet. The championship will be Saturday at 6:30 p.m.

Girls

Colby (19-1) was to play Ulysses (1-18) at 5 p.m. Monday night because both Ulysses teams play both Colby teams. The rest of the girls' first round games are tonight

Scott City (14-5) will play Concordia (8-11) tonight in Colby at 6 p.m. Larned (16-3) plays Hugoton (5-14) at 6 p.m. in Larned.

Brewster coach Laura Rush gave instructions during a time-out Saturday against Triplains in the regional basketball championship.
