Girl celebrating prom with sex bad decision

DEAR ABBY: My boyfriend 'Adam" and I are high school seniors. We have been serious for only three months, but we've been dating for more than a year. He is sexually experienced, but I am not — I'm still the "Big V."

On prom night, I want Adam to be my "first," but because I have been disappointed in the past, I don't want to be left heartbroken. I love Adam with all my heart—he's all I want in a guy. But I feel torn about what to day"? Or should I make him wait? Please help! — TEEN GIRL IN THE GAMBLING STATE

DEAR TEEN GIRL: Your boyfriend may be a wonderful person, but to lose your virginity simply to years of our marriage were spent celebrate prom night is not a mature struggling to make ends meet. He decision. Sex carries with it respon- worked, making $6.25 an hour as a planned "surprises," as the following letter shows. Read on:

DEAR ABBY: I was an A student in high school and was accepted into both Cornell and Stanford. I had a brilliant future in front of me on a silver platter — then I had a baby. I did not get pregnant on purpose. I had my son because I could not bring do. Should I go ahead and "seize the myself to get an abortion or give up my baby. It has not been an easy road.

I married my baby's father, even though he was only one month out of high school, and I dropped out of my first year of college. The first 10 sibilities — and can result in un- roofer's apprentice. I waited tables pared for.

at night, sometimes until 2 or 3 a.m., then I would get up at 6:30 a.m. to feed the baby. There was no money to go out with friends or for new clothes, and we lived in a tiny house in a bad neighborhood. Lack of money caused most of our marital problems.

Abby, as much as I loved my son, I also resented him because all my dreams were put on permanent hold and I had to live the way I did. I spent days, weeks and months crying hours at a time in despair. This was not the life I had envisioned. In the seven years that followed, I had two more sons. My youngest was the only child I was emotionally pre-

I am now 32. My oldest is 12, and yes, I am still married to my husband. People think we are the perfect family, but I am not sure it was worth the price we have paid. Our first two sons never quite had their mom or dad during the years when it counted most. Our marriage nearly crumbled. We both had affairs and verbally abused each other. It took LEDO more than 100 hours of expensive counseling to fix our family.

Children are the most precious blessings you can have, and they de- maturity to be an effective parent. If serve two parents who are ready to treasure them for their entire life not just when you finally get your life that person may be, he or she does not together 10 or 15 years down the have the tools to be the parent that road.I urge all young people reading every child deserves.

this to GET AN EDUCATION not just in college, but life experience as well. Youth doesn't last forever. You will no longer have a chance to be young and free once you have children. Don't try to beat the odds. The pain left in the wake of your mistake lands squarely in your kids' laps. - TELLING THE TRUTH IN TO-

DEAR TELLING THE TRUTH: You have made an important point. It takes consistency and emotional the mother or father is still emotionally immature, as well-intended as
