Elementary art gets gallery show

Parents and grandparents often hang them on their refrigerators, but elementary art will get a gallery show for February.

The Carnegie Arts Center will open its gallery season with the Elementary School Art Show with an all-school reception from 5 to 7 p.m. Monday.

Students, parents and friends are invited to stop by any time during these special extended hours to view the exhibit.

The arts council has again joined with the West School Site Council to take art to the classroom. In mini-courses, students at West will learn about the master artist Vincent Van Gogh and get a chance to create art in his style. These works will also be on display at the school during Monday's gallery show.

The Elementary School Art Show is one of the center's favorite gallery shows, said Director Tina Goodwin. Each year, she said, the show features the creative talents of local students. Students in grades pre-kindergarten through sixth have the opportunity to display their artwork in the gallery for the entire month.

In the past, Goodwin said, the display has featured everything from a tropical rain forest to penguins playing in the snow. This year's show will transform the gallery with the unique work done by the students. Artwork will be hung from floor to ceiling in order to display at least one piece from each student.

Show your support by visiting the arts center this month to see the students' work, Goodwin said; chances are, you will find a masterpiece done by somebody you know.

The Elementary School Art Show will be on display through Feb. 28. Gallery hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday through Monday. Admission is free.

The elementary art show is sponsored by Gambino's, Snappy Snacks and PrairieLand Animal Clinic.

Scholarships available for science students

Four new scholarships, established by alumni and friends, are available to benefit science students at Emporia State University.

The five new scholarships come as part of Building Blocks for Success, the university's campaign for student scholarships. Scholarships allow talented students to pour themselves into their classroom and lab work, said DeWayne Backhus, chairman of the departments of physical sciences; upon graduation, they are more likely to distinguish themselves in their careers.

Scholarships include:
• The Dr. Robert and Louise Boles Scholarship that will serve students majoring in biology or studying in the School of Library and Information Management.
Dr. Boles taught biology at the university from 1960 to 1980. He served as editor of The Kansas School Naturalist and later earned the University Service Citation award.

Louise Boles, after earning a master's degree in library science from the university in 1967, joined the staff at the William Allen White Library on campus and rose to head of technical services.

The Boles' nephew, Russell Clay Harvey of Topeka established the scholarship to honor the Emporia couple and to commemorate Robert's 90th birthday and Louise's 80th birthday.

• The John R. and Lenore S. Zimmerman Scholarship Fund for students majoring in elementary education with an emphasis in mathematics.

John Zimmerman of Commerce, Texas, established the scholarship, named for him and his wife Lenore. They are graduates of the university, John in 1942 with a physics degree and Lenore in 1941 with an education degree.

• The Mark and Jill Brady Scholarship Fund to support undergraduates studying chemistry or biology who intend to pursue medical training.

Mark and Jill Brady of Overland Park established the scholarship. He is an anesthesiologist who earned his biology degree at Emporia State in 1985. He serves on the ESU Foundation Board of Trustees.

• The Chemistry Emeritus Faculty Scholarship for chemistry majors who meet the Physical Sciences

Scholars Award program requirements.

The scholarship has been established to honor retired faculty, including Charles Greenlief, Ken Johnson and Dave Schroeder, who taught and inspired students for generations.

These scholarships are significant incentives because of documented shortages nationally in the scientific and teaching fields, Backhus said, and because the availability of scholarships and financial aid in general has not kept pace with the increasing costs.
