The National Wrestling Hall of Fame and Museum has named former Goodland Cowboy Brett Bahe as the Kansas winner of the Dave Schultz High School Excellence Award.

The award is given to a senior wrestler in each of the 48 states that sponsor high school championships who demonstrates “excellence in wrestling, scholastic achievement, character, citizenship and community service.”

Along with the award, Bahe may attend an all-expense-paid leadership camp June 18-21 at the U.S. Olympic Training Center in Colorado Springs.

Among the 48 recipients this year is the first girl to earn the award.
