Model society to display works at arts center

Miniature replicas of vehicles and military aircraft, ships and artillery will be on display at the Carnegie Arts Center next month, starting with a reception from 1 to 3 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 5.

The models are the work of enthusiasts who meet each month to share ideas and projects. The Northwest Kansas Scale Modelers Society was formed in 2003 by Doug Hilty and Darrick Leiker to promote the art of plastic modeling.

Meetings start at 6:30 p.m. the second Friday each month at 1118 Main in Goodland. They are a come-and-go affair, with no officers or agendas. There are no membership fees, and the sessions are open to anybody interested in the hobby.

"It's all about getting together with fellow hobbyists and sharing ideas, techniques, reference materials and showing our work to each other," Leiker said. "We encourage both adults and children to participate."

The society conducts a contest and show during the Flatlander Fall Festival and builds a window display at Christmas for downtown shoppers. Members have given demonstrations and shows to promote the hobby to kids.
