

Judging team takes second place at contest

Three Sherman County 4-H juniors took second place as a team in the Fort Hays State University Livestock Judging Contest. Nolan Deeds, Layne Goodwin and Saige Vandiver finished second as a team, and Deeds placed fourth as an individual, said Aubrea Winter, judging team coach and leader.

Winter said the team had to judge two market hog classes, one breeding gilt class, one breeding ewe class and two breeding heifer classes. Each had to answer a set of five questions on one of the market hog classes. She said this was the first contest for the team members.
