Fun abounds at M*A*S*H Bash

Ying Huang (above, middle), retired head of Goodland Regional Medical Center's laboratory, showed off his original Army uniform from when he served at a field hospital in Berlin from 1960 to '62 at the Slice of Life M*A*S*H Bash last Friday. His wife Kin is right in the picture, and Jackie Elliott, Goodland High School math teacher, was with them. Randy Topliff (left, right photo), owner of Overhead Door, and Kevin Rasure, Sherman County commissioner and owner of Rasure Lumber, posed with retired Denver Bronco Larry Brunson. Col. Sherman T. Potter (Dale Schields, director of human resources at the hospital, below) was the master of ceremonies. The mileage pole (bottom, right) was a staple in the original MASH compound showing the distance from the camp to various places in the world.
