

College student wins Kansas Lottery money

A Northwest Kansas Technical College student is feeling pretty lucky after winning $25,000 Saturday morning playing a Kansas Lottery's Twice Lucky scratch off ticket he bought from a Conoco station.

Derek McDonough of Hanston, a student in the heating, ventilation and air conditioning program, said he feels like the luckiest student on campus.

With his winnings, he said, he plans to pay off some debt and put some in savings. But in true lottery fashion, he has a few things he plans to buy for himself.

"My birthday is coming up soon," he said, "so I plan to buy some clothes, a TV and I am going to Cabela's (sporting goods store) to buy some hunting gear and a new gun."
