

Fun, frolic at Flatlander Fall Festival

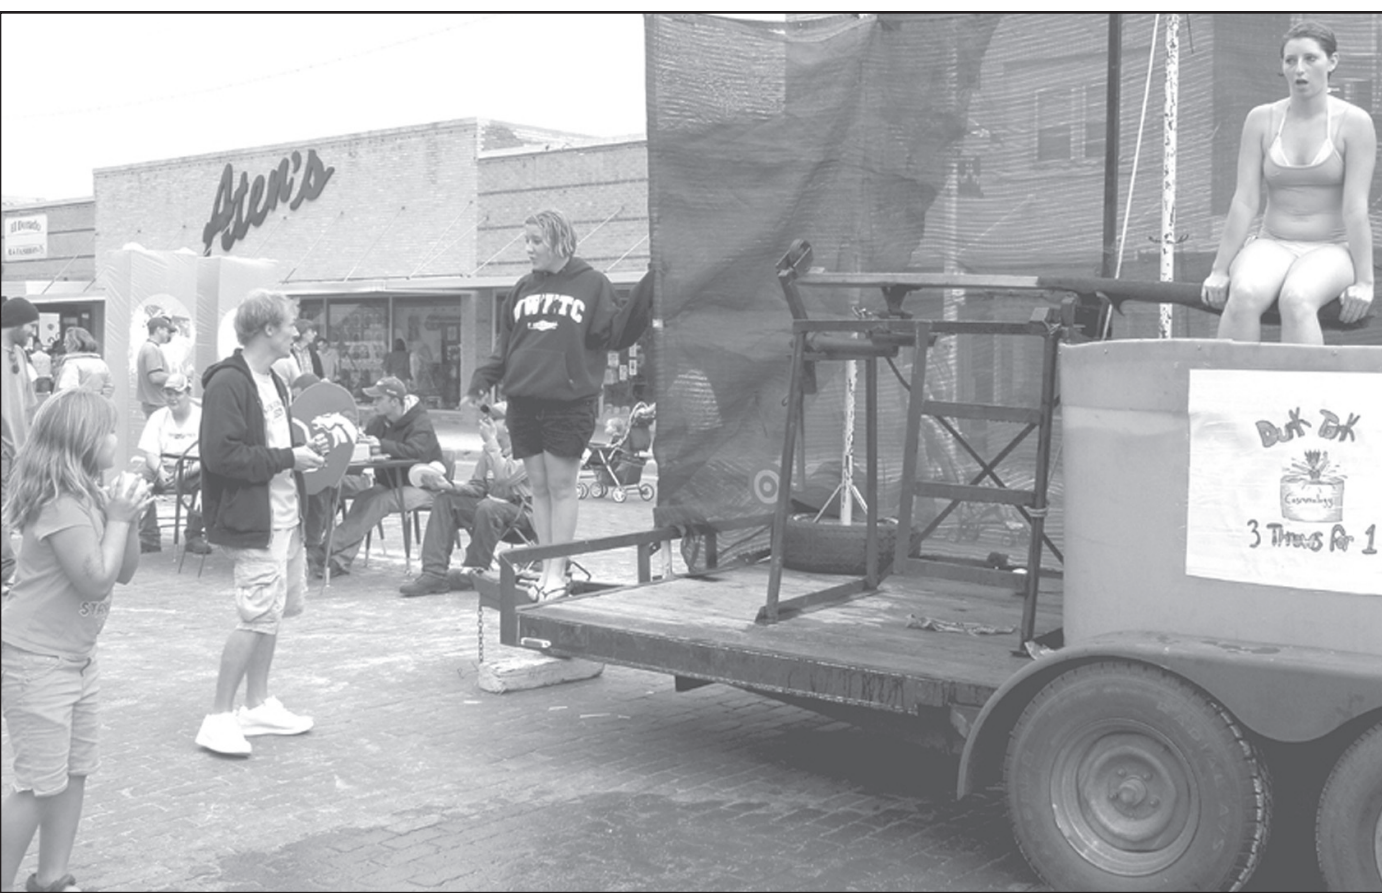

The Brick Top Cruisers Car Show filled nearly four blocks of the Main Street Mile on Saturday with about 160 cars entering with a wide variety of antique, unique and classic cars.

Face painting was one of the boots for the Northwest Kansas Technical College (above) plus the Cosmetology Department had the annual dunk tank (below) and the Auto Department had their annual car bash (below right).

Motorcycles filled the north two blocks of Main and people got to vote on their favorite bikes in various categories.

The Good Samaritan Society held a cake walk with squares taped to the bricks and playing cards for the spaces where people stopped when the music stopped.

Jordie Mann, advertising person for The Goodland Star-News entered the second annual chili cook-off and tied for fourth with KLOE's Marty Melia.
