

Photo contest vote close

What do a mountain lake, a grandfather and granddaughter, a bass guitar and an old car have in common?

All inspired winning photos in the Flatlander Photo Contest at the Carnegie Arts Center. Photos were on display at the center throughout September and visitors were allowed to cast ballots for People's Choice Awards for each of four categories.

The contest was quite competitive, said Director Kay Younger, with so many unique and creative photographs, and there were over 60 entries.

When the votes were tallied Saturday, Sept. 27, at the festival, the winners were "Maroon Bells" by Marvin Seaman, a photo of a mountain lake, in Landscapes; "Traben Bass" by Kade Sheldon in Still Life; Grandpa Curtis and Vega, entered by Curtis Duncan, in People; and "Old Car at Greensburg" by Dusti Chadwick in Other.

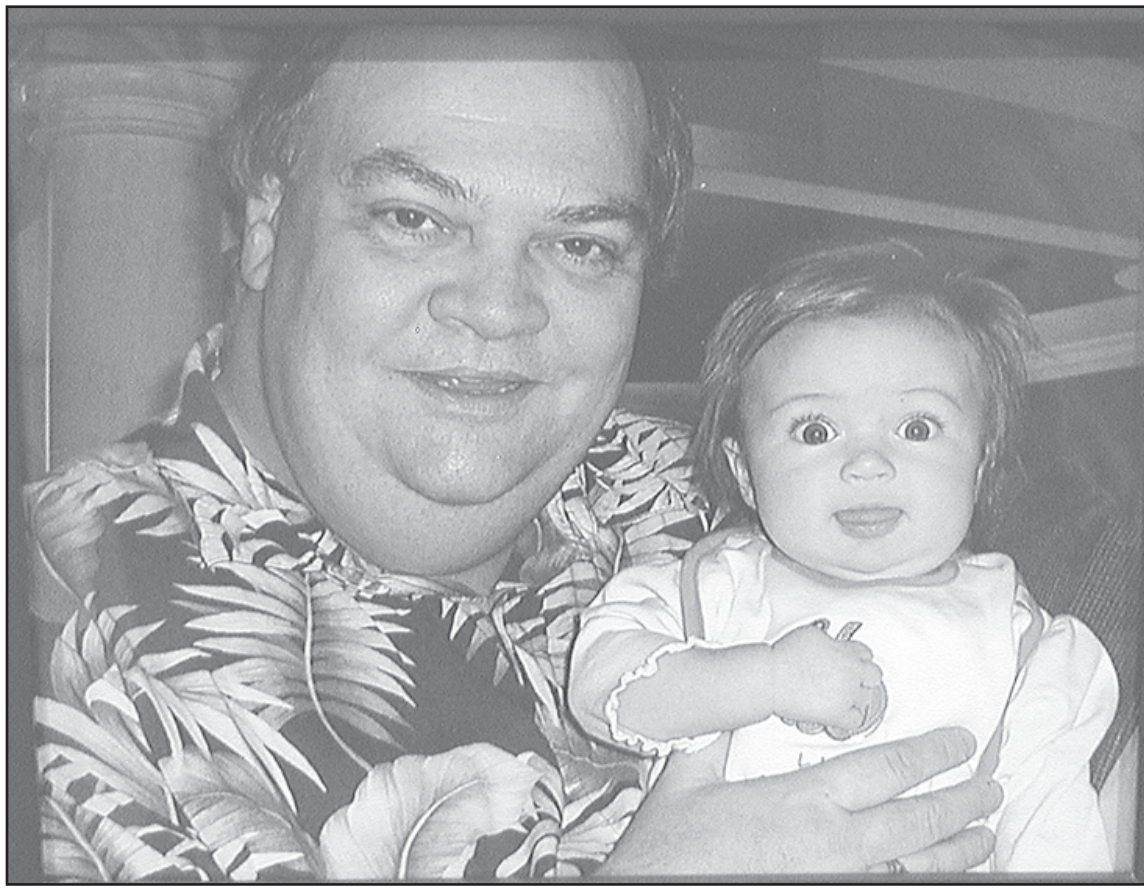

The voting was close, Younger said, and several photos received a lot of votes. Younger announced the winners outside the center after a performance by Demi Mitchek dressed as Dorothy from "The Wizard of Oz." Mitchek sang "Somewhere Over the Rainbow" from the movie with a wandering Toto on a leash.

She also sang "Cowboy Sweetheart" and "I Never Promised You a Rose Garden" under the rainbow of balloons over the arts center steps.

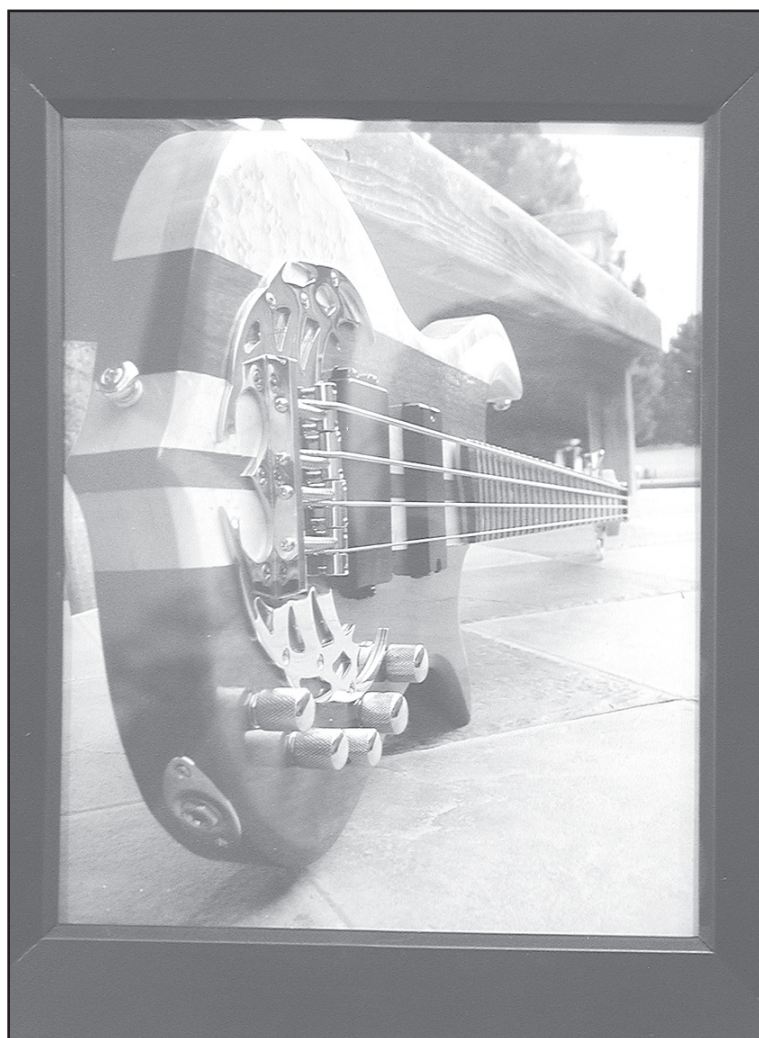

Goodland Artist Shirley Houston helped with the "Over the Rainbow" decorations and donated to the arts center the proceeds of her caricature drawings during the festival.

Elwyn Vatcher and Connie Hatcher exhibited art work, and Scott Lucas held a book signing. His book of poetry, "lies, nostalgia and cow gas," is available at the center.

Jeff First, Goodland High School art teacher, and members of the school's Art Club provided chalk art on the street, and Jack Eisenbart provided carriage rides for visitors to the center.

Flatlander Photo Contest winners are (clockwise from top) Grandpa Curtis and Vega, entered by Curtis Duncan, in People; "Traben Bass" by Kade Sheldon in Still Life; "Maroon Bells" by Marvin Seaman in Landscapes; "Old Car at Greensburg" by Dusti Chadwick in Other.

Arts center plans dinner

The Carnegie Arts Center will hold its annual spaghetti dinner at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, Oct. 18, at the United Methodist Church fellowship hall.

Beach plays ukulele, guitar, mandolin, fiddle, jaw harp and harmonica and is known for his humorous stories. His new compact disc called "The Polka Dot Cafe" is described as a full menu of original and humorous songs for children of all ages.

Tickets are $10 for arts council members and $12 for non-members. They are on sale at the center through Thursday, Oct. 16. No tickets will be available at the door.
