Carnegie Arts Center plays host to student art, cast members

Cast members of the dinner theater, "A Dress Rehearsal for Murder," to be performed on Saturday, March 20 and Sunday, March 21, made an appearance at the opening of the "Young at Art" exhibit at the Carnegie Arts Center on Sunday, and gave a preview of the murder mystery.

The preview featured a Paris Hilton-type star, played by Jessica Cole, sitting on the floor doing yoga, while an older veteran actress, played by Jacque Schields, practices her karate moves for her television show, where she works at one job during the day and is a crime detective who uses karate at night.

The pair is part of a group vacationing together at a resort where a murder takes place. Marty Melia plays the butler who serves the guests. Could the butler turn out to be the murderer?

Tickets for the dinner theater are on sale now at the arts center. Tickets for Saturday, which includes a dinner, are $30 and $25 for arts council members. On Sunday there will be a dessert bar and tickets are $25 and $20 for arts council members. For information call (785) 890-6442.

The art work being displayed was done by students of Grant Junior High School, Goodland High School, the Summer Arts Institute and bi-monthly classes at the arts center.

Among the art work are drawings of heros, animals and flowers. The teacher for the arts center classes and the junior high is Hannah Schlosser. Jeff Furst is the teacher at the high school.

The exhibit is on display until March 31.
