Online reservation now open for business

The Kansas Department of Wildlife, Parks and Tourism has announced that its new (www.kdwp.t.state.ks.us/State-Parks/Reservations) online reservation site is open for business.

Built by Active Network, Inc., a cloud-based activity and participant management solutions provider, the new system makes it easy to find and reserve campsites and cabins in the state parks as well as cabins at certain state fishing lakes and wildlife areas. It is hosted on www.reserveamerica.com, a media property of Active Network for camping reservations. The online registration system powered by ActiveWorks cloud technology was launched on schedule just after midnight on April 17. The department had not taken online or phone reservations since April 1 to allow programmers to move reservations made before April 1 into the new reservation system.

The new reservation system allows the department to take its paper, and phone-based camping reservations process online for the first time, creating tremendous efficiencies for both park staff and consumers. The centralized system allows guests to search multiple camping and cabin sites simultaneously and make reservations from the comfort of their homes. In many cases, park users will save money through reduced service fees and will be assured a site if they have made a reservation. Additionally, the system will enable park staff to more effectively manage their statewide parks and facilities, and benefit from centralized reporting and auditing.

To make campsite and cabin reservations, guests can visit the department website, www.kdwp.t.state.ks.us/State-Parks/Reservations where they'll be directed to the new reservation site at www.reserveamerica.com, or they can call a state park office or the Pratt Operations Office at (620) 672-5911. For the location of the nearest Kansas state park office, go to the department website and click "State Parks/Locations." For those without computers or who still prefer using a phone, park staff will be able to use the new system to help callers with reservations.

The number of campsites available for reservation will vary by park - in most parks about half of the sites can be reserved. The rest will be available through the traditional "first-come, first-served" method. Shelter and group campground reservations will continue to be made only through the park office where the facilities are located.

For more information, contact the nearest state park or phone the Pratt Operations Office, (620) 672-5911, and ask for the Parks Division.
