Bullying policy discussed

By Pat Schiefen

pjschiefen@nwkansan.com
The Goodland School Board at its last meeting had a discussion about bullying starting first in a closed door session and then in open session.

Board member Mike Hamilton asked the principals how they were handling bullying when reported. Grant Junior High principal Steve Raymer said that they take bullying very seriously and have done some preventative measures. One problem is that if the bullying takes place online the person bullied needs to preserve the evidence with a screen shot, he said. Without some proof it is hard to deal with.

When asked who did the most bullying boys or girls the principals said girls. Also, Raymer said, some parents will come in and tell him they are moving their student out of the district because they are being bullied. Often he and his staff had not been told that student was being bullied before then.

West Elementary principal Verna Milnes said that with really young kids you have to sort out whether it is just the kid being mean or not knowing how to interact with other students or actual bullying. Also she said that the term bullying has taken on a life of its own and is over used.

All of the principals said they are trying to be proactive on bullying.

Hamilton asked how they are handling the parents if their perception is that the administration is not doing anything. The principals said they all try to handle situations at school with the last resort being suspending the offending student.

Raymer said often they can not tell the bullied kids' parents who the bully is if they don't know and they also can not tell them what actions the school took. That gives the parents the impression that nothing was done.

In other business:

• A representative of Cohen Esery, a real estate developer of repurposed buildings from Overland Park, was at the meeting talking about how his firm would like to repurpose Grant Junior High into apartments. He said the project would cost from $4 to $5 million and that they get their

Northwest Tech recognized by Apple

Northwest Kansas Technical College has been named an "Apple Distinguished Program" for its iPad Mobile Learning Initiative for the third consecutive year.

The Apple Distinguished Program is a two-year designation for the 2013 to 2015 school years. Northwest Tech is among a small group of educational institutions recognized nationally, and is the first two-year college to receive the award.

"We are incredibly honored by this recognition from Apple," said College President Dr. Ed Mills. "Our Board and I couldn't be more proud of the outstanding faculty and extraordinary students here at the college. They've paved a new path in the use of mobile technology to advance the effectiveness of teaching and learning in one of the State's finest 2-year colleges. At Northwest Tech, we work together to find new ways to make great things happen, such as this important initiative, and we are always looking ahead. Our goal is to prepare exceptional graduates from this 'world-class' college to ensure a brighter future for Northwest Kansas, as well as for the Great State of Kansas."

Every program at Northwest Tech emphasizes hands-on learning and real-world experience in the field, supported by complete iPad integration in the classroom. Instructors work hard to help students connect mind, hand and heart, and the iPad Mobile Learning Initiative is helping faculty make that a reality.

The selection of Northwest Tech as an Apple Distinguished Program highlights its successes in enhancing and extending teaching and learning with thoughtful and innovative implementations of technology. iPad and Apple TV are bringing Northwest Tech students closer to their learning materials than they have ever been before and increasing collaboration between both students and faculty.

Support local responders by donating blood

Sherman County's emergency responders will once again compete to see who can bring in the most blood donations in this year's "Battle of Badges" blood drive from noon to 6 p.m. on Thursday at the Harvest Evangelical Free Church, located at 521 Old U.S. 24.

Donors will have the opportunity to vote for the Sherman County Sheriff's Office, Goodland Fire Department, Goodland Police Department or Northwest Kansas Emergency Medical Services. The department with the most votes wins bragging rights for the year as well as a traveling trophy.

This is the fourth year of competition. Fire has won in 2010 and 2012 and emergency medical services in 2011.

Call (800) 733-2767 or visit redcrossblood.org to make an appointment. All blood types are needed. Walk-ins are welcome. A blood donor card or driver's license, or two other forms of identification are required. Donors must be 17 years old or older weigh at least 110 pounds and be in general good health.

Elks Club puts on drug program at schools

The Goodland Elks Club handed out 900 ribbons and pencils at Goodland schools to raise awareness of drug abuse during Red Ribbon Week - Oct. 21 to 29.

Burton Pianalto, Elks member and Sherman County sheriff, spoke to students at Head Start, West and Central Elementary Schools and Grant Junior High about drug abuse. Pianalto said he includes tobacco and alcohol in his presentation, and spends a lot of time on the story of Tony Brown.

Brown was a life-long smoker who had to have most of his fingers and several limbs amputated. Pianalto said he brought some graphic photos, but felt they would have an impact on the students. The idea, he said, is to encourage students to help their loved ones quit tobacco, alcohol and other drug use.

Pianalto said he made a promise to stop his own tobacco use during last year's Red Ribbon Week, and the students have been helping him do so throughout the year.

The Elks Club has been recognizing Red Ribbon Week in the schools since 1997.

Historic photos to be shown

The Butterfield Trail Association and Historical Society of Logan County in Russell Springs will hold "A Photographer's Work and the Work of Western Kansas," a presentation and discussion by Jim Hoy at 12:30 p.m. (Mountain Time) on Sunday, Dec. 1, in the undercroft of the St. Francis Chapel in Russell Springs (entrance on the east side).

The program will follow a potluck Christmas dinner at noon (Mountain Time). Everyone is welcome.

Community members are invited to the free program. Contact any trail association board member for information: Mike Baughn, Bernie Moellering, Scott Schertz, Mel Herschberger, Ward Taylor, Brett Ayers or Pat Haremza.

Photographer Francis Marion Steele arrived in Dodge City in 1890 to document cowboys at work on the open range. As the prairie began to fence up and cattle ranching gave way to crop farming, Steele's photographs traced the cultural changes with dramatic images of sod-busting, railroad construction and town boosterism. Hoy will share Steele's images and discuss how he documented the dramatic ways work changed at the turn of the 20th century.

Hoy teaches folklore and literature and is the director of the Center for Great Plains Studies at Emporia State University. He has lectured internationally on the folk life of ranching, published 12 books and over 100 articles, and is the co-author of "Plains Folk," a syndicated newspaper column.

"The photographs of F.M. Steele are important not only for their artistry, but because they document the transition from open-range ranching to drop agriculture in Kansas and the southwestern plains," said Hoy.

K-State to build lab at Olathe

Kansas State University Olathe is the site of the new Microbial Surveillance Lab, a partnership with Merck Animal Health. The lab will be a second site for the Kansas State Veterinary Diagnostic Lab, which is based on the Manhattan campus.

Merck Animal Health provided a donation for the development of the Microbial Surveillance Lab at Kansas State Olathe. The lab will provide diagnostic support services that will initially meet the unique needs of Merck Animal Health, followed by other animal health industry partners.

The lab also will create high-quality student educational and training programs utilizing a specialized caseload, and increase the regional and national visibility of the university's Veterinary Diagnostic Lab within the Kansas City Animal Health Corridor. Current laboratory capabilities include microbiology culture, identification and antimicrobial susceptibility testing.

"Merck Animal Health is a valuable partner to Kansas State through the College of Veterinary Medicine and Kansas State Olathe," said Kirk Schulz, president of Kansas State University. "By supporting the Microbial Surveillance Lab, Merck will help advance diagnostic education and training, as well as help propel Kansas State toward our goal of becoming a Top 50 public research university by 2025."

The partnership with Merck Animal Health extends beyond the lab walls. The company supports a cohort of students in the veterinary biomedical sciences graduate program at the Olathe campus, who will benefit from research opportunities at Kansas State Olathe.

"We at Merck Animal Health are proud to support and invest in scientific research as it is vital to the future of the animal health industry and veterinary medicine," said Rick Sibbel, D.V.M., director of technical services, Merck Animal Health. "This partnership provides us with an opportunity to contribute to the education and real-world experiences of students who are pursuing a related degree, as well as impact advances in animal medicine."

The lab is fully accredited by the American Association of Veterinary Laboratory Diagnosticians, and has been established to provide microbiology diagnostic support to animal health pharmaceutical and biological companies. Through value-added partnerships and an entrepreneurial business model, the Microbial Surveillance Lab provides an excellent environment of support for teaching and research, and connectivity to the nation.

"Thanks to Merck, this offers a new platform for us to more easily provide diagnostic services and professional expertise to the Kansas City region, Animal Health Corridor and beyond," said Ralph C. Richardson, dean of Kansas State University's College of Veterinary Medicine. "With the additional benefit of enhancing professional and graduate-level educational opportunities through our Kansas State Olathe campus, this is a win-win situation for all involved."

Olathe Microbial Surveillance Lab services are provided by contract only. Routine diagnostic submissions should continue to be directed to the Kansas State Veterinary Diagnostic Laboratory on the Manhattan campus.

Students get dictionaries

Brian Rippe, member of the Goodland Elks Lodge, handed out dictionaries to students at Central Elementary School on Friday morning. A total of 121 dictionaries were handed out to students in Goodland, Sharon Springs, Weskan, Winona, Brewster, St.

Francis and Bird City. This is the 14th year for the project and 979 dictionaries have been given out.

correction

An article, "Small game here comes in season," on Page 10 of the Fall 2013 Nor'West Newspapers' Hunting Guide had inaccurate information about hunting coyotes. You need a hunting license to hunt coyotes and a fur harvesting license to trap them. The only exception is if you are hunting them on your own land. This was an error in information provided to the reporter.

USD 352 REQUEST FOR PROPOSALS

USD 352 is seeking Request for Proposals (RFP) for the purchase of Grant Junior High (GJH) and the adjacent property. For information on the RFP process please visit: www.usd352.org and click on District News.

Although the closing of GJH will not be complete until May 2015, it is the desire of the BOE to have a plan in place so that the building and property do not set idle. Waiting until we have vacated the building before we begin this process would allow for vandalism and deterioration of the building.

money for projects from Low Income Housing Tax Credits and historical registry funds. The company is in the middle of a similar project in Colby, turning the old hospital building into apartments.

He said they would like to get a tentative contract to start as soon as they could on the paper work. He said it takes several months to get a property on the historical registry and apply for the tax credits. The tax credits are awarded once a year at the end of May. When applying for the tax credits a market study must be done. Also they would need a referral from the local housing authority.

It is an advantage, he said, to getting the building as soon as the district has moved out in the summer of 2015. The shorter the time the building is left vacant the better. He said the project could be done as soon as April, 2016.

Board members felt that they needed to ask for proposals from the public before formally deciding. Board member Jessica Cole moved that the board seek proposals for Grant Junior High by noon on Monday, Dec. 9. Hamilton seconded.

IRS warns of fraudulent typhoon charities

The Internal Revenue Service has issued a consumer alert about possible scams taking place in the wake of Typhoon Haiyan. On Nov. 8, 2013, Typhoon Haiyan – known as Yolanda in the Philippines – made landfall in the central Philippines, bringing strong winds and heavy rains that have resulted in flooding, landslides, and widespread damage.

Following major disasters, it is common for scam artists to impersonate charities to get money or private information from well-intentioned taxpayers. Such fraudulent schemes may involve contact by telephone, social media, email or in-person solicitations. The IRS cautions people wishing to make disaster-related charitable donations to avoid scam artists by following these tips:

- To help disaster victims, donate to recognized charities.
- Be wary of charities with names that are similar to familiar or nationally known organizations. Some phony charities use names or websites that sound or look like those of respected, legitimate organizations. The IRS website at IRS.gov has a search feature, Exempt Organizations Select Check, through which people may find legitimate, qualified charities; donations to these charities may be tax-deductible. Legitimate charities may also be found on the Federal Emergency Management

Agency website at fema.gov.

• Don't give out personal financial information – such as Social Security numbers or credit card and bank account numbers and passwords – to anyone who solicits a contribution from you. Scam artists may use this information to steal your identity and money.

• Don't give or send cash. For security and tax record purposes, contribute by check or credit card or another way that provides documentation of the gift.

• If you plan to make a contribution for which you would like to claim a deduction, see IRS Publication 526, Charitable Contributions, to read about the kinds of organizations that can receive deductible contributions.

Bogus websites may solicit funds for disaster victims. Such fraudulent sites frequently mimic the sites of, or use names similar to, legitimate charities, or claim to be affiliated with legitimate charities in order to persuade members of the public to send money or provide personal financial information that can be used to steal identities or financial resources. Additionally, scammers often send e-mail that steers the recipient to bogus websites that appear to be affiliated with legitimate charitable causes.

Taxpayers suspecting disaster-related frauds should visit IRS.gov and search for the keywords "Report Phishing." More information about tax scams and schemes may be found at IRS.gov.

Hansen Museum to feature American artistry program

The Dane G. Hansen Memorial Museum in Logan will feature "Associated American Artists – Art by Subscription," with examples from a Depression-era project, from Friday, Dec. 6, to Sunday, Feb. 2.

In March 1933, many of America's banks were closed. The country was gripped by the economic depression and the emotional climate was near an all-time low.

Art dealer Reeves Lewenthal decided to form the Associated American Artists, a new program that could distribute affordable, original art to every American. Artists, weary of working with wealthy collectors, committed themselves to the idea. These artists based their art on social imagery, on everyday America. They left behind abstract theories in favor of the familiar scenery of our country, and the program was a success.

The museum opens at 9 a.m. and closes at 4 p.m. weekdays, 5 p.m. Saturdays. It closes from noon to 1 p.m. for lunch; Sunday hours are 1 to 5 p.m. For information, call (785) 689-4846 or go to www.hansenmuseum.org.

Parents, children enjoy feeding birds

Parents and children enjoy spending quality time together, but it's not always easy to find shared interests. The backyard, however, can provide the perfect place for generations to meet when parents help kids learn the delights of bird-watching and bird-feeding.

Interacting with backyard birds benefits children on many levels, including teaching them the responsibility of caring for other living things to nurturing their appreciation of nature.

Fall and winter are the perfect times to introduce kids to backyard bird care; as food sources dwindle in their natural habitat, birds will frequent a backyard where feeders serve up seed and suet daily.

Wild bird experts offer some guidance for families launching bird feeding lessons:

Feeder facts:

- Tube – Best for serving seed, tube feeders keep the contents clean and dry, providing birds with access to the food through feeding ports. They're great all-purpose feeders and will attract the most variety of songbirds. It's important to clean tube feeders regularly, so choose a model that's easy to clean. High-quality tubular feeders are made with state-of-the-art materials to prevent warping, discoloration, and they feature quick clean removable bases that make cleaning fast and simple. Feeder bottoms pop off with the push of a button.
- Bowl feeders – If separating seeds into different feeders gets too complicated, bowl feeders can be an all-in, easy solution. Bowl feeders can accommodate a variety of feed types, from seed and suet to mealworms, fruits and nuts. Bowl feeders are especially good starter feeders for children since they are easy to fill and clean.

• Suet feeders – During cold winter months, suet is an essential source of energy for birds. Suet feeders can range from a simple mesh onion bag to a wire or plastic mesh box that affixes to a tree, or post. Woodpeckers, warblers, nuthatches, titmice, jays and chickadees love suet.

• Whatever styles of feeder you choose – and a mix is ideal – be sure to select feeders that are sturdy enough to withstand winter weather and unwanted visitors, like squirrels. They should be tight enough to keep seeds dry, and easy to disassemble for cleaning. Most importantly, keep them maintained and stocked – if you neglect to feed them, birds will go elsewhere.

Food fun:

In order to attract birds, it's important to serve high-quality food. Seed blends with too much cheap seed, known as fill, won't satisfy birds, and you'll end up with a mound of discarded fill under feeders and few feathered friends in your backyard. Here are some basic foods birds look for in winter:

• Suet – Long gone are the days when serving suet was a messy proposition. Kids can serve suet without messing up their little hands when you choose convenient suet cakes, kibbles, nuts and pearls. Many of these suet options are mixed with other treats birds love, such as nuts, grains and berries. You can even find options with habanero pepper infused in the fat to dissuade squirrels from dining on the suet.

• Seed – Many songbirds favor seeds, and in winter it can be difficult for birds to find seeds in nature. From black oil sunflower seeds and Niger to seed mixes, it's important to serve a variety of high-quality seeds. Choose mixes with large proportions of sunflower seeds and avoid ones with fillers like wheat, milo and corn; birds will pick out the appealing seeds and kick out the filler.

• Dried Mealworms – Although

the name might imply a "ick factor" that appeals to kids, serving dried mealworms is easy and mess-free. High in protein, mealworms are favored by bluebirds, flickers, woodpeckers, siskins and nuthatches. Plus you don't have to feed them or keep them in the fridge like with live mealworms!

Introducing kids to backyard bird-feeding is an enjoyable – and easy – way to connect families with nature – and to each other. All you'll need is a feeder, bird feed and some time.

The birds will come, kids will surely enjoy the experience, and you'll all have some good family fun.

ladies auxiliary

Lowell Coleman Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars held their at November meeting at 5:30 p.m. on Thursday, Nov. 7, at the post home.

President Jo Ann Wahrman shared information from the "Sunflower Express" (the Department President's message.)

The department president has asked that the uniform be black slacks/skirt/jacket with a white blouse until the new blue blouses are ordered. The official uniform will just be the Veterans of Foreign War blouse ordered from national and slacks or a skirt.

Five members constitute a quorum

Reports of Committees:

Americanism/Youth — Flag etiquette booklets were distributed to all teachers in the Goodland schools. A message suggested that teachers review with the students appropriate behavior during the Pledge of Allegiance.

Halloween — Trunk or Treat. Three members handed out glow in the dark stickers, coloring pages, and poppies. There were about 50 to 60 kids. We will look for patriotic items to give to the kids like spinners, balls, etc for next year. Members might go in costumes like Uncle Sam, a soldier or Statue of Liberty.

Buddy Poppies — They were distributed at Bingo and the White Elephant Sale as well as Veterans Day. Cindy Pletcher made a gift for the veterans at Good Sam and Wheatridge with a clothes pin, magnet, ribbon, and poppy. They say "Thanks" on the pin..

Members found between 32 and 35 people flying flags at their home in town. They were invited to attend the Veterans' Day program with the intent to give them a certificate during the program.

A flag will be donated to the Senior Citizens' Center. Mary Harper has flags for sale.

Cancer Aide & Research — there is a new cancer grant form available for members who have cancer. It is for $500. A member can receive it twice in her lifetime.

VA Hospital — December 30 is the deadline for Tidy Whitey's. To date we have $80 in donations plus one sack of underwear. Donations can be left at the Post. We also have some lap ropes to be given to the VA hospital.

The Veterans' Day program will be at 11 a.m. on Monday, Nov. 11. There is one Voice of Democracy entry that will be read. The Patriot's Pen entry will be read.

Legislative Goals this year include: VA health care — fund the VA fully, Women's issues, PTSD, Suicide and Homeless — keep Congress focused on mental health issues, VA Compensation and Benefits, Education and Employment, Military Quality of Life and POW-MIA.

The National Home for Children needs funds for a new campus-wide phone system. $50.00 was donated to this project.

Saturday, Nov. 9, is the White Elephant Sale. The proceeds go to pay for the candy that Santa distributes.

We should try to get cards to members who are ill. Please let Chaplain Cindy Pletcher know of illnesses and deaths. The charter was draped in memory of Shauna Juhl Armknecht who passed away on Tuesday, Oct. 5. A grave marker and flag will be given to the family to place on her grave in St. Francis. The audit report was approved.

Current membership: Dues collected from 69. Still need to collect from 40. Total membership 109 annual and 61 life members. We need to keep working on membership. Mothers, sisters, daughters, wives and grand-daughters of Veterans who have served overseas in time of war are eligible.

The meeting ended with the closing ceremony. There will be no December meeting, but members are encouraged to help sack candy on Wednesday, Dec. 20.

Lady Mavs get first win of the season

The Northwest Kansas Technical College women's basketball team picked up their first win of the season at Brown Mackie College in Salina on Friday.

The Lady Mavericks, who have had many of their players sitting out due to injuries, played a pair of games at Brown Mackie on Friday and Saturday. They beat Brown Mackie 94-83 on Friday, but fell 76-58 to Southeast Community College from Lincoln, Neb., on Saturday.

Next action for the women's team will be at 4:30 p.m. Friday at North Platte Community College.

On Friday, the Lady Mavericks fell behind in the first half, with Brown Mackie leading 44-39 at halftime. Northwest Tech put together a rally in the second half, outscoring Brown Mackie 55-39 to win the game.

The Lady Mavericks put in 44 percent of their field goal attempts along with 33 percent of their three point attempts and 60 percent free throw shooting.

Rayven Thomas put in a whopping 31 points and pulled down 17 rebounds for a double-double. Thomas made 11 of 18 free throw attempts. Also getting double digits in points and rebounds was Condy Demosthene with 11 points and 15 rebounds.

Bile Naychiang got 23 points and 7 rebounds; Shaletta Mayberry, 15 points and 8 rebounds; Ariyanna Smith, 10 points and 3 rebounds; and Karla Hall, 4 points and 2 rebounds.

The Lady Mavericks didn't fare as well against Southeast Community College. They fell behind 23-36 in the first half and even though they improved their scoring in the second, putting in 35 points, it wasn't enough to overcome Southeast.

Northwest Tech suffered in shooting percentages, making just 20 out of 69 field goal attempts and 5 of 19 three pointers. However, the Lady Mavericks were able to pull down 56 rebounds and only turned the ball over 15 times.

Mayberry led the team with 15 points and 4 rebounds. Demosthene got 13 points and 19 rebounds for a double-double; Bile, 10 points and 5 rebounds; Thomas, 8 points and 5 rebounds; Ashley Brown, 5 points and 2 rebounds; Ariyanna Smith, 3 points and 6 rebounds; Taylor Britton, 2 points and 3 rebounds; and LaJuana Brown, 2 points and 3 rebounds.

College men's team loses two in Salina

The Northwest Kansas Technical College men's basketball team lost a pair of games at Brown Mackie College in Salina on Friday and Saturday.

The Mavericks fell 76-68 to Barton Community College on Friday and 96-91 to Brown Mackie on Saturday.

Next action for the men's team is the home opener against Clarendon College, scheduled for 6 p.m. tonight at the Max Jones Fieldhouse.

The opening minutes of the first half of Friday's game saw multiple lead changes. Oshey Washington put in a three pointer to put the Mavericks up 23-21, but the Cougars went on a nine-point run to take the lead back 30-23. Gian Clavell put in a three pointer, answered by a six points from Barton.

The Mavericks put in seven more points in the half, including a free throw from Clavell. The cougars put in three more to make it 39-33 at halftime.

With 15 minutes left in the game, the Mavericks had cut the lead to one point, but Barton pulled away again, making the score 53-46 with 10 minutes to go.

Clavell and Jackson Hussey each scored three pointers, but Barton stayed ahead, leading 61-59 at the 7-minute mark. The Mavericks put in eight points to the Cougars' 15 over the next six minutes, making it 76-67 with only seconds remaining. The Mavericks put in the final free throw of the game to end with a 76-68 loss.

FUN BY THE NUMBERS

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!
