Storms drop rain, hail in rural areas

It was a stormy weekend for the tri-state area, but like previous weekends, relatively little rain ended up falling in Goodland. On Sunday, hail up to a half-inch in diameter was reported in southwest Sherman County. On Tuesday, several severe thunderstorm warning were issued around the region. Hail up to one inch in diameter was reported in Logan, Cheyenne, Norton, Gove and Gove counties. Some of the storms produced winds up to 60 mph, which kicked up dust and hampared visibility near Quinter. In Goodland, most of the rain fell Friday, about .46 of an inch. No rain was recorded by the National Weather Service on Saturday, and only .01 inch was reported in the area. Mencken-opts- to remain in western Sherman County as several storms passed through before dissipating as they ended up falling in Goodland.

Time left to nominate local heroes

There’s still time to put your hero in the Goodland Star-News’ Hometown Heroes Section. The auction, which will publish June 27, will highlight local heroes such as law enforcement, firefighters, emergency medical technicians and paramedics, and more. The paper is asking for nominations for anyone you feel is a Sherman County Hero and should be recognized.

Just fill out the form that is published in the paper and return it to the Goodland Star-News office. Bring in a photograph along with the form to the office at 1205 Main Avenue, Goodland, KS 67735.

Merry-go-round's history remembered

This merry-go-round at Smeke Gardens was restored in 1992 by the Goodland Star-News. The restoration was paid for by the Alfred M. Benedia Memorial for Soldier's Memorial Park. Benedia, who died before his 21st birthday, had donated that year. Prior to being moved to the park, the merry-go-round had been in the Central Flyway since 1949. It was operated by the new operator, the 3 McEwens and Bob McClure as well as many local children.

Groups working on 50-year water vision

Sustainability must be the goal of the 50-Year Vision for Water in Kansas. More of the “development at all costs” thinking of development and conservation is neither sustainable nor acceptable. This was the message of the nine natural resource and environmental groups who gathered in Topeka to deliver comments to the Kansas Water Office and Kansas Department of Agriculture representatives of the Governor’s 50-Year Vision for May 1. We have over-appropriated water in the state; we built reservoirs without insuring or supporting upstream land management or reservoir infrastructure. We are removing wildlife habitat, forests and corridors necessary to provide biodiversity, and we are allowing children and wildlife habitats to be destroyed no matter how they are obtained. We have turned the Kansas River and Smoky Hill River into two pipelines to transport water from the high plains to the east.

Kansas has had a State Water Plan since 1985. Kansas law states that $6 million of the General Revenue Fund each year, as well as $2 million from the Kansas Energy and Water Fund, shall be used for the State Water Plan. Kansas law also states that the plan shall be reviewed every 5 years to determine the current and projected supply and demand of water resources. To date, the plan has not been funded adequately, nor has it been revised and/or updated since 1989. Kansas law states the plan shall be revisited at least every 5 years. A wide range of stakeholders were asked to create a draft plan. This was the first draft of the 50-Year Vision for Water. A revised plan was called for, but was not created.

The draft was distributed to all state offices, citizens and interest groups, with programs to provide comments, management and protection. “It works if funded,” stated Jim Bay of the Nature Conservancy, a sentiment echoed by all the groups present. “If the plan is not implemented, if no more funding is provided, the new plan will go to the water courts, as was the old plan.”

The groups represented included the Kansas Natural Resource Council, Kansas Conservation Club, Audubon of Kansas, Kansas Chapter of the Sierra Club, Friends of the Kansas Natural Resources, Kansas Frog, Kansas Wildlife Federation, Kansas Chapter, Climate and Energy Project, Kansas-Farmers Union, and the Kansas Rural Center.

In addition to the plan for dedicated funding for water programs, the groups recommended to the Kansas Water Office and Kansas Department of Agriculture called on state planners to:

• Recognize that protection of the natural resource base is as important as if not more important than economic growth, and that long term environmental economic planning depends on how well we protect this natural resource.

• Balance water use with conservation and appropriate transfers of water with extreme caution.

• Reduce consumption to sustainable yield across the state.

• Elevate water quality to be a strong part of the vision that is not just considered as being part of supply issues.

• Consider all of the evidence of changing climate patterns as part of any 50-year plan.

• Coordinate with state energy planning to promote less water intensive energy resources.

For a short while, the Kansas legislative session is behind us and we can talk calmly about societal health. It has been another battle where there were no winners. We look at Kansas in a Western way of looking at problems, from "far right" to "far left." A system that grew from the 1980s in the Reagan era is the determinant in all of our National Assembly elections today. If there are any problems, the solution is to change the system.

We see the "far right" -- the "Asian way." And the recent book "Legal Transparency in Dynastic China" by University of Kansas professor John Haynes stresses that there is a close relationship between the way the Chinese law is written and the way it is enforced.

There's always pressure from employees to raise wages and benefits. While the state and federal government is providing tax increases to spend on dozens of programs, one after the other.

There's always pressure from employees to raise wages and benefits. While the state and federal government is providing tax increases to spend on dozens of programs, one after the other.

New federal standards make everything from running an ambulance to operating a sewer treatment plant to paying a rent more expensive every year. A host of "free" grants teem up with a demand to have more, with little thought on how they will pay for programs when the grants dry up.

There were no absolute laws in specific situations. Guiding moral principles allow you to judge individual situations differently. He went on to say the "five Chinese principles" because it was stated in the New Testament. Education, and especially education in morality and relationships, was an important requirement of Confucianism.

There were serious laws and punishment. In the Confucian code, laws came from Confucius himself. Confucius said that those who commit crimes that have been committed. "Unity and harmony were the central themes. It was the code of the professional that judged each comment had to be made carefully. In direct opposition were the Legalists. They contended that you could rely only on an education to run a society. Instead, you would spend or give away millions of dollars on hundreds of people. Military law is another example that spells out every minute of what is considered and done.

By imposing clear and severe punishments, no one would have the wrong. And a government could perform "without governing." Over time, these two schools of thought evolved in different ways. In "Imperial Confucianism," the Legal school was more of a system. Thou shalt not steal or murder.

The Confucian code could lead to an elitist society of the educated. So today most of China's institutions are Legalist. Due to their huge landholdings, there is a need for uniformity in laws. Fail to pass the college entrance test and you can be a plain person. grandmother is locked in this law and only marriage will help to overcome this law.

COWGIRLS SOFTBALL TEAM PLACES FOURTH AT STATE

The Goodland High School softball team ended its season with a fourth-place finish at the Class 4A State Tournament in Wichita Falls, Texas. The Cowgirls went 2-1 in their games, with a 5-0 win over Pratt and losses to Lecompton and Perry-Lecompton. In the final game against Perry, the Cowgirls had a chance to win but were unable to score with two outs in the seventh inning. Perry scored two runs in the bottom of the seventh, and the Cowgirls were unable to get the tying run across the plate.

The Cowgirls were led by senior pitcher Hope Cochran, who went 2-1 on the mound with a 2.65 earned run average (ERA) and 43 strikeouts in 15 innings pitched. Junior catcher Alex Arteaga provided a strong bat in the lineup, hitting .381 with 16 runs scored and 22 RBIs. Freshman shortstop Brianna White was a key contributor, hitting .424 with 21 RBIs and a team-high 23 stolen bases.

In addition to Arteaga, the Cowgirls had several other strong performers. Senior pitcher Katie White went 1-0 with a 2.25 ERA and 15 strikeouts in 14 innings pitched. Junior outfielder De La Rosa was a consistent hitter, hitting .325 with 13 RBIs and seven stolen bases. Freshman utility player Alyssa Berns was a versatile player, hitting .316 with 10 RBIs and making several key defensive plays in the field.

The Cowgirls finished the season with a 15-8 overall record and a 14-7 record in the Western Athletic Conference. They qualified for the state tournament for the fourth time in five years and were aiming for a state championship.

The Cowgirls were not able to advance to the state championship game, as they were defeated by Lecompton in the semifinal round. In the final game, the Cowgirls were able to score one run in the sixth inning but couldn't complete the comeback, falling to Perry-Lecompton by a score of 5-1 in the seventh inning.

The Cowgirls will return a strong core of players next season, including Arteaga, White, Berns, and Cochran, who are all expected to be key contributors.

The Cowgirls softball team placed fourth at state, falling just short of a state championship. The team showed a great amount of heart and determination throughout the season, and they can hold their heads high knowing they gave it their all. The Cowgirls will look to build on their success in the upcoming season and continue to make Cowgirl softball proud.

Congratulations to all our wonderful athletes!
