Tickets going fast for April cooking school

Change is in the air. The days are getting longer. Your thoughts are drifting to warm-weather activities and spring celebrations.

As the seasons change so does your mealtime menu. Comforting pot roasts and stews give way to lighter salads and barbecues. If you're a cook no problem looking for fresh springtime fare, plan to attend the Taste of Home Cooking School on April 13 at Max Jones Fieldhouse. This innovative cooking demonstration is being sponsored by The Goodland Star-News.

Margaret McCutcheon, a home economist with the Cooking School, will be coming to town with a presentation of recipes that will satisfy the sweet-tooth as well as the low-fat enthusiast. She will prepare eight dishes highlighting products from this season's national sponsor line-up. Plus she will present several entertaining ideas and creative garnishes.

Sheila Smith of The Goodland Star-News is coordinating plans with McCutcheon to make this a first-rate cooking experience. "This event will have something for everyone. Basic cooking techniques will assist the novice and refresh the 'seasoned' cooks' talents, as well," offers Smith.

Every guest will receive a free full-color Taste of Home Cooking School Recipe Collection that includes the recipes prepared onstage, as well as a gift bag filled with coupons, product brochures and samples.

National sponsors and local vendors will provide an array of door prizes, too. Winners will be chosen from the completed registration cards that are collected before the start of the show. If you're lucky your name might be chosen to receive a bag of groceries, a baking products gift package or one of the dishes that is prepared on stage.

An evening of fun, flavorful food and fiends is still our main objective. Tickets are selling for $7 each at The Goodland Star-News. Doors will open at 4 p.m. for guests to visit local vendor booths. The program will begin at 6 p.m.. Come join us for an adventure in something new and something tried-and-true.
