Goodland had gained 227 people in the 1904 census

By Evelyn Ward

Sherman County Historical Society
May 14, 1904: Population is 1,562—Goodland Has Gained 227 People in Twelve Months — After having completed his work of taking the census in Goodland last week, Assessor E.F. Murphy says that they are 1,562 people living in Goodland.

Last year the number was 1,335, showing a gain of 227 in twelve months. New residences are going up in every part of the town. This shows a good annual growth and proves that the building era here has been in response to the actual demand of people who have to have some place to live.

May 15, 1904: Mrs. Eva M.

today in history

Murphy, president of the Sixth district Women's Christian Temperance Union, in her visit to the various temperance organizations, writes that she has made a visit to the state industrial school for girls at Beloit.

When Mrs. Murphy was in Beloit, she telephoned out to the governess of the industrial school with the request that she would like to make a short call at the institution. A carriage was sent out and Mrs. Murphy taken to the home. As it was Sunday, she was given a class to teach in the Sunday school.

All the 158 inmates were dressed in white, and among them was Katie Stelges, who formerly lived in Goodland, but who was sent to the state institution on complaint of incorrigibility.

Mrs. Murphy says that she was neatly dressed, her hair tastefully plaited, and that she appeared and acted like a little lady. In the letter, the management of the institution is cordially commended.

May 16, 1904: Deweys Arrange Bond — Chauncey Dewey, W.J. McBride and Clyde Wilson were in Norton Monday to appear at the May term of the district court in Norton county for the purpose of attending to some matters relative to their bonds. They returned to Manhattan that afternoon.

The trial of these three men for the murder of one of the others of the Berry family will be held in October.

May 17, 1904: The Sunday school convention held at the Rhine school house, nine miles northwest of Goodland, May 7, was largely attended, Sunday school workers from seven different points in the county being present.

Sessions began at 10 o'clock in the forenoon and took up the time until 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

At noon, a basket dinner was served. The Rev. Kuhlman, T.P. Crawford and S.V. Mallory gave addresses. A collection for the association treasury was taken, $5 being raised.

May 18, 1904: For Sale — Will sell the Coffin restaurant, the business and fixtures, or building and business and fixtures. Application can be made to Mrs. B.E. Coffin.

From weekly issues of The Goodland News, provided by the Sherman County Historical Society. Since the paper was published weekly, some items were arbitrarily assigned a date.

Bank has exhibit on history of currency

Bankwest, 924 Main, has an exhibit on the history of U.S. currency, featuring historic notes and coins on loan from the Federal Reserved Bank of Kansas City.

The display traces currency from the colonial period through the current day, focusing on currency of major historical significance, including state bank notes, fractional notes and gold certificates.

The display also features demand notes, the currency that led some to refer to bills as "greenbacks."

The display runs through Friday, June 4. The bank's lobby is open from 9 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday-Friday.

The Kansas City bank and its branches in Denver, Oklahoma City and Omaha serve the 10th Federal Reserve District, including Colorado, Kansas, Nebraska, Oklahoma, Wyoming, northern New Mexico and the western third of Missouri.
