

Golfers hit the links to help animal shelter

About $2,000 was raised for the Northwest Kansas Animal Shelter at the "Puttin' for Pets" benefit golf tournament Saturday at Sugar Hills Golf Club.

Four teams of four participated in the event, which used the "best ball" format. All four players tee off, then all four hit from the best spot each time.

The Newfies won the tournament with a four-under-par 67. Terry and Cara Daise teamed up with Alan and Lynda Townsend to form the team, sponsored by BankWest.

There was a tie for second place, with a score of 73, between the Shih Tzus made up of Bill Brook, John Deane, Roy Dixon and Keith Engle, and the Schnausers made up of Marsha and Kayo McGillivray, Tommy Tompkins and Mona McGinley. The Schnausers were sponsored by First National Bank.

Finishing fourth but winning the Spirit Award were the Hillbilly Hounds, made up of "first-time" golfers Kathy Weis, Mary and Suzanne Butler, and Jan Gamet from Denver.

The tournament was organized by the shelter's board, and Chairman Sandy Rogers was the on-site director for the tournament.

"I'd like to thank the sponsors for making the tournament such a success," she said, adding that all four teams donated their winnings to the shelter.

The next tournament at Sugar Hills, recognized by the Northwest Kansas Golf Association, will be Goodland Senior Social on Thursday.

Colby Trojans end season 27-33

The Colby Community College baseball team finished its season Friday at the National Junior College Athletic Association Region VI tournament at Lawrence Dumont Stadium in Wichita.

In the quarterfinals Thursday, the Trojans fell to Johnson County Community College 9-5. In their first game in the consolation bracket, they lost to Allen County Community College 10-8.

Colby finished the season 27-33 overall. Shortstop Cole Armstrong and outfielder Dan McClure, both sophomores, were named the second team of the West Division Kansas Jayhawk Community College All-Conference Team. Sophomore pitcher Ty Landenberger and sophomore catcher Kyle Sandusky received honorable mention.

Seward County Community College won the regional tournament, defeating Cowley County Community College 8-5 Sunday in the championship game. Seward County, ranked No. 12 nationally, will advance to the junior college
