Fred Hilt

Fred Hilt, 67, Burlington, a farmer and former airport manager, died Monday, June 14, 2004, of a massive cerebral hemorrhage.

He was born Dec. 19, 1936, the fifth son of Fred and Elizabeth Hilt at the family's homestead near St. Francis. His mother gave birth to him on the kitchen table.

Hilt learned to do many of the household chores from his mother. His love of music began with the two of them sitting on the cellar door singing hymns in both German and English.

He attended the Clough Valley School, and when the family moved to St. Francis, he attended school there until he graduated in 1954.

After graduation, Hilt joined the Air Force, serving as an airframe repairman and an aircraft maintenance instructor. Following his discharge, Hilt moved to Burlington and assumed the responsibility of Hilt Drilling Co. from his father.

Hilt married Martha Sivey, and the couple had two children. He leased and managed the Burlington Airport, farmed land north and south of Burlington and ran the drilling company.

On Oct. 7, 1968, he married Bonnie Reynolds in Amarillo, Texas, and later adopted her two children.

After planning and designing the family home, he and his father built the home in Burlington in the early 1970s.

He was baptized and confirmed in the Lutheran Church and was an active member of First St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Burlington. Hilt was involved in many activities with his wife Bonnie, including singing in the church choir, stock car racing, square dance calling and dancing, antique tractor pulling, golfing, card clubs, traveling and following the grandkids in their activities.

He enjoyed restoring old cars and gas pumps and collecting antiques and other things. His biggest achievement was restoring and fabricating a 1907 White steam car. His latest project was building an experimental two-passenger airplane with is son Dave.

Preceding him in death were his parents and two brothers, Marvin and Ervin Hilt.

Survivors include his wife; two sons, Dave (Donna) Hilt of Burlington and Timothy Hilt of Houston; two daughters, Tami (Gene) Vaugh of Bethune, Colo., and Mary Ann Kirkpatrick of Texas; five grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren.

Man was killed by 11-year-old daughter

By Evelyn Ward

Sherman County Historical Society

June 17, 1904: She Killed Her Father — A.C. Jenkins of Norton, while beating his wife, was shot dead by his 11 year old daughter. Jenkins was no doubt insane, as he had often threatened to kill his whole family. The coroner held an inquest, and the jury brought in the verdict of justifiable patricide.

June 18, 1904: New Doctor Here — Dr. F.A. Carmichael arrived in Goodland and has located in this city in the practice of medicine. He is a graduate of the Northwestern University Medical School, one of the best institutions of the kind in the United States.

He will make his headquarters at the Moore & Stevenson drug store, and will establish a private office in a good location soon. He is a younger brother of Engineer Ed Carmichael and is a pleasant gentleman to meet. He brings excellent personal recommendations.

June 19, 1904: The Dangers Attending the Drink Habit — Mrs. Ada Unruh, who spoke at the opera house Sunday morning on the question of prohibition and the temperance question, was introduced to the large audience that greeted her as a Kansas woman.

today in history

She began her work for the temperance cause about twenty four years ago while a resident of WaKeeney.

For the past seventeen years, as a national lecturer of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, she has given her whole time and visited nearly every state in the union, presenting facts and pleading with men and women to consider seriously the problem that so much concerns the moral welfare of the country.

The speaker brought forth the idea that it is not sentiment that is needed so much as conviction in the matter of temperance.

"None of you," she said, "are ashamed of your fathers or your grandfathers, who stood for their convictions that slavery was wrong. Some day our children and grandchildren will be proud of us who stand for the abolition of the liquor traffic. It is coming, and before many years, too."

Mrs. Unruh is a cultured woman and exhibits a broad charity for the human race. She speaks with earnestness and power. The storm prevented the evening lecture.

June 20, 1904: Jacob Trachsel, who owns a farm southeast of Goodland, has just returned from a trip to the Alberta country. Before going there, he visited southeast Kansas.

The Alberta country has no charm for him; southeast Kansas is a much more desirable country, but property values are so high that moderate capital can see nothing alluring.

a few weeks ago, he was a little discontented with Sherman county, but now he is more in love with her than ever.

June 21, 1904: High Water on Beaver — Saturday night the heavy rain on the Beaver carried consequences, and in many places the water was from bluff to bluff in the narrowest places.

Rychman's dam is full, and water 12 to 18 feet deep and 3/4 of a mile wide showed evidence of the swollen condition of the creeks.

From weekly issues of The Goodland News, provided by the Sherman County Historical Society. Since the paper was published weekly, some items were arbitrarily assigned a date.
