Goodland couple held large house party today in history

By Evelyn Ward

Sherman County Historical Society October 13, 1904: Mr. and Mrs. C.J. Shimeall entertained this week, perhaps the largest house party that ever visited Goodland.

The house party consisted of 12 admiring friends of the Shimealls from their recent home town, Norton, and included Mrs. R.C. Shimeall.

Mr. Shimeall, in the largess of his heart, met the arriving guests at the depot on Monday evening with a conveyance in which there is always room for one more and drove with them to his commodious home on the north side.

From the moment of arrival until their departure Wednesday night, a good time had full swing.

On Tuesday evening, an additional party of about 40 Goodland people were entertained at the Shimeall home in honor of the out of town guests. A most enjoyable evening was reported, with music, a guessing contest, delicious refreshments and more music.

Mr. and Mrs. Shimeall proved themselves equal to the occasion and showed themselves royal entertainers.
