Daughter of Goodland couple had poem published

By Evelyn Ward

Sherman County Historical Society December 27, 1904: Miss Anna B. Sexson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sexson of Grant township, who has the position of stenographer with a Denver real estate firm, has written a poem entitled "Heaven" which recently appeared in the Denver Times as follows:

HEAVEN

"Ofttimes our path seems rugged and our burdens hard to bear,

Our weary hearts are saddened by an overwhelming care,

Yet our hearts may be gladdened and forget its load of woe,

When we think heaven's near us, if we only make it so.

If our friendship has been slighted by the ones we do most love.

It is not lost, but moves onward to the realms of light above.

And the lowly all around us feel the brightness of it glow,

For heaven is within us if we only make it so.

When some loved one has passed onward to the better land above, Where there is no death or sickness but where all is peace and love, Heaven then seems very near us as the rugged way we go, have been throughout my residence This plaintive song feels true, and heaven is nearer than we are wont December 28, 1904: DEWEY'S RANCHIDLE—The big 300,000 acre Dewey ranch in Rawlins county is idle, according to a report just given out by F.L. Ball, who for two years has been superintendent of the famous Oak ranch, but who resigned the position recently.

Mr. Ball gave to a reporter of the Abilene Reflector the following: "The ranch is no longer operated as before, owing to the litigation over the estate, and there is practically eth Century of the Christian Era, nothing to do except oversee the property.

'The foreman is in charge of the ranch, house and buildings, and all the cattle, except about 500 head, have been shipped to market.

"Two other men are all that remain of the big force that once blood" to treaties of peace and julooked after the thousands of cattle and hundreds of horses. When the lawsuits are ended, it is possible that the ranch will be restocked.

"A great land movement is under way in northwest Kansas, and many new settlers are going to that section, buying the lands owned by mortgage companies and investors and making homes. It is changing conditions greatly and may result in the breaking up the big ranches."

December 29, 1904: New Year's Day, Jan. 1, 1905, marks the beginning of the fifth year of the Twentiwhich is now almost universally observed as the epoch for measuring the flight of time, and recording of events personal, social, national and world wide and from the conflict of embattled hosts "with confused noise and garments rolled in bilees of emancipation.

When God set "great lights in the firmament of heaven, to divide the day from the night," He said "Let them be for signs, and for seasons, and for days, and for years, and it tral luminary of our system; the earth upon which we live, bowling ceaselessly with inconceivable velocity through the ecliptic; and our moon, Earth's satellite in the celestial waltz with sister planets among the constellations — all these are the chronometer marking the days, weeks, months, years and centuries of duration!

How wonderful that in modern times an era lengthened now into nearly 20 centuries should be fixed from the birth of Him who died upon the cross. We have both the assigned a date.

The sun, the great, glorious cen- solar universe and the natal day of the One who "bowed the heavens and came down," to mark the Christian era, the most distinct and most glorious, an era the most marvelous in the present and promising in the future.

Is it an accident that Christian nations are the van of the world's progress? This is the Christ age!
