

Promenade

"Frozen in time" prom attendees Saturday had a great dinner at the Elks Lodge. The entrance was decorated in winter scenes, and the tables were complete with ice sculpture swans done by Darla Lee. Some of the couples arrived in classic cars including a Ford Model A that was parked next to a 1965 Ford Mustang. Drew Wilkens brought his date in a 1955 Nash Metropolitan. After dinner the attendees boarded activity buses for the short trip to the Max Jones Fieldhouse for the 12th annual promenade. First off the new activity bus were (left photo) Ciara Abbey, Juan Velasco and Dan Finnel. Each couple or group were announced (above) by emcee Dale Schields as they walked the ice path to the arch in front of the crowd and cameras. Kelsi Ihrig escorted by Tysen Lofland and Nichole Buskirk escorted by Daniel Blake (below left photo) pass down the ice path to give the crowd a second look at everyone before heading back to the Elks for the dance. Kara Angelos and Derrick Raymer (below photo) posed for pictures under the ice arch. Max Jones Fieldhouse (bottom photo) was filled to near capacity on the north half with the crowd of family, friends and curious who came to see the Goodland High juniors and seniors who attended the prom. Photos by Tom Betz and Sheila Smith / The Goodland Star-News

