

1919 letter says to sell wheat at $2.40 per bushel

Another week is flying by — where is the summer going? The kids will be back in school before we know it. Some are still cutting wheat but soon will be finished.

Our family has a letter that my grandfather James Baird wrote to my grandmother Florence in the year 1919. He was in an Army hospital after an injury in World War I

He told Grandma to sell the wonder it's hard for a farmer now. Doesn't make sense, does it?

The fall crops could use a good soaking rain. We pray it will come before any damage takes place.

The Brewster Community Church had their Vacation Bible School last week. I guess they all had a wonderful time in learning God's message and doing their crafts. Twenty-one children attended. Job well done.

Cliff and Paula Fox are going to Kentucky this week to visit Cliff's family. Their granddaughter Almiranda will be going with them. We wish them a great and safe trip.

Tony Bremenkamp got bit by a brown spider that made him sick, so I guess we should be very cautious around them.

Dale Dunlap, a former Brewster resident now living in New Mexico, is slowly improving after her stroke. She is in a nursing home but hopes to go live with her son Jerry in the near future. Mail will reach her in care of Jerry Dunlap, Box 941, Clovis, N.M. 88101.

Beta Study Club is in the process of making a queen-sized quilt, which they plan on raffling off this fall.

I hope you will all have a good week, and you will find comfort in your soul.

4-H news

The meeting of the Beaver Valley 4-H Club was held Monday, April 11. President Ashley Christians called the meeting to order.

Roll call was answered by saying your favorite flower. There were 13 members and two leaders present.

After reports of officers, leader Lori Phillips told the club they had received a blue ribbon for model meeting, and she really appreciated their hard work. There was no unfinished business, so the meeting went to new business.

Kim Roeder and Diane Stefan volunteered to be in charge of the candle decorating and hay bale decorating for the fair. And it was decided not to buy T-shirts.

For the program, Paige Phillips led the group in the song, "Itsy Bitsy Spider." Andrea Roeder did a demonstration on how to make bottle people.

Tania Arnold gave a project talk on how to crochet. For health/safety, Taylor Milke talked about trampoline safety. The meeting then recessed for recreation by Shelby Arnold, who had the group play

"Down by the Banks of the Hanky Panky."

The meeting was called back to order, and Ashley gave the announcements. She asked for two adults to help with the small animal weigh-in on April 29 and announced the next meeting agenda.

The meeting adjourned by saying the 4-H motto to make the best better. Refreshments were served by the Phillips and Roeder families.
