Youth urged to be pure, avoid intoxicants, tobacco

By Evelyn Ward

Sherman County Historical Society September 14, 1905: The Home Life — The children must be taught right principles in the home. They should early in life be pledged to total abstinence from all intoxicants. The anti-tobacco pledge is just as essential, for the boys must be kept from the cigarette habit if they wish to be pure, clean men. Keep from the boys and girls all trashy books and papers. If the home life is what it should be, municipal life will take care of itself.

September 15, 1905: 100 Bushels on One Acre — The more Sherman County is farmed the more prolific is the soil. An example of the great success won on a single acre is the record of Oscar Edwards, who has just dug 100 bushels of fine potatoes from his patch and all this without irrigation.

Mr. Edwards brought a few samples to this office. Eighteen of them weighed fifteen pounds and would measure more than a peck. Mr. Edwards planted on the 20th of last April.

September 16, 1905: Was Stunned By A Meteor — A.S. Gafford of Voltaire Township will never forget the train of heavenly fire that caught him in its electric air and left him almost unconscious within the evening shadows of his own door.

And the terrific explosion that instantly followed will long remind him of the ancients' concept of an angry deity or possibly the crack of doom. But it was not the wrath of the heavens nor Gabriel's trumpet note but a frisking meteor that prostrated Mr. Gafford at about 9 o'clock Saturday night.

He had spent a strenuous day plowing fireguards and backfiring at home and fighting the prairie fire that started from the railroad and threatened to overrun a large stretch difficulty during the day, and Mr. Gafford was resting at home from his sore labors. At about 9 o'clock he went out to see if there were any signs of fire. And just as he stepped from the house, the heavens turned as light as day.

He saw the approaching streak of light and turned toward the door. calling as he did to the rest of his family to come see the meteor. His hand had hardly reached the door knob when he sank down, overcome by an electric shock. He regained himself in a moment, but for half an hour he was pale as a ghost and his sight was very much affected, everything appearing to him in an ashen color.

Mr. Gafford, speaking of the phenomenon, said that the meteor apthe southeast. The nucleus was wildly bright, and as it shot by, it looked as big and bright as a headlight on a locomotive. The brilliancy diminished to the tail, disful tints.

> Mr. Gafford was a telegraph operator years ago, and in speaking of his experience with electricity, said that only once before had he been so severely shocked, and that happened in a peculiar manner.

> He was out in the rain and the ground was muddy along the telegraph poles. Boy-like, he crawled up a pole and got connections with the ground by having his brother hang onto his feet with one hand and sticking his thumb of his other hand in the mud.

The currents of electricity in 'dots and dashes" could then be felt, and he could read the calls. The thunder storm was still in progress peared to be 25 yards long, its away to the east, and the lightning course lying from the northwest to happened to strike the wires. Mr. Gafford concluded, "And then it was I got one of the biggest and closest calls that ever went over the wire.'

distribution of lakes and rivers, the people of Goodland were shocked by the news that Ralph Corley had been drowned in Lake Creek on the J.A. Parker ranch in the southwest part of the county.

Corley was drowned in a deep hole in the creek while in swimming with Jotham Parker. His body was taken from the creek nearly four hours after he went down, without a cry of distress.

Whether the unfortunate young man was unable to swim or he was taken with cramps in the cold water is a mystery. His body was brought to town by J.A. Parker. An inquest was held by Coroner Gulick and burial made in the Goodland Cemetery.

After the day's work was over, Jotham Parker, a son of J.A. Parker, and Ralph Corley, an employee on the Parker ranch, went out for a swim in a deep hole in Lake creek not far from Mr. Parker's home. It was a little after 6 o'clock, and the water was cold.

where nature has been unkind in her told his companion how deep the Ralph Corley met death by drownwater was and about the lay of the ing. bed. He was first to take a plunge, swimming out into the middle and back.

> Corley followed the example, reaching the middle and had turned to come back, when he seemed to be unable to maintain himself. He disappeared, and at the moment he came up, Parker threw out to him one end of his trousers, but somehow Corley couldn't get hold of that life string emerged again. Parker reached out a hand to help. Corley grabbed hold of one of his fingers and drew his companion under with him, when Parker jerked loose.

He was never seen again until just after 100' clock when a party of men on a raft succeeded in drawing his lifeless body from the pond. This is the substance of the testimony given at the coroner's inquest.

Kent, Jack Detmer, Thomas Cole, Sherman County Historical Soci-Harley Hogeboom, William ety. Since the paper was published Young Parker, who had gone Trachsel and C.H. O'Brien swimming in the hole frequently, brought in a verdict saying that assigned a date.

Young Corley was 21 years of age and spent most of his boyhood days in Goodland. Eleven years ago, when his foster mother Grandma Corley died, he left Goodland and went west.

Having no home, he roamed like children do that have no heart ties for a parental roof A few years ago, he landed in Nebraska, where he had relatives.

The deceased is reported to have had $250 from the sale of a little house which he owned in Goodland, willed to him by Mrs. Corley, but $160 only has been accounted for, which was on deposit at the First National Bank.
