Rod, Branson and Marla tried their flying skills by going skydiving at Eloy, Ariz. Marla served Cornish hens for Christmas dinner; they were delicious.
My precious one, The world you live in is obsessed with staying young. Every day you see people around you spending enormous amounts of time and energy and money on any scheme that promises to keep them youthful.
Some have mastered the art of looking young on the outside while their spirits within them are withered and old. They are tired of the uphill struggle of their existence and bored with its routines; they hunger for something more.
Above the roar and rumble of their stressful lives I am calling them, saying “Surely you know. Surely you have heard. I am the Lord, the God who lives forever, the Creator of the ends of the earth.”
“I give strength to the weary and power to the weak. Everyone who chases this world’s vain pursuits will grow weary and old. But those who hope in me will renew their strength. They will soar like eagles. They will run and not need to rest. They will walk without growing tired.” Come to me and be renewed, God. Isaiah 40:28-31.
