Paintings, silversmithing to be shown in November

A Tribune artist will display oil and acrylic paintings, silversmith-November.

The gallery show for Joan Smith of Tribune will open with a reception from 1 to 3 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 5, and her work will be on display through Thursday, Nov. 30

While raising her four sons, Smith said, she found that she needed a creative outlet and began drawing with pastels.

"When I got the boys tucked in bed," she said, "I got some pastels to 5 p.m. Tuesday through Friday and started drawing the Disney characters that the boys liked."

Today, she works in oils and acrylics, she said, but she finds it hard to stick to just one medium. She has taken classes in drawing with pencil, pen and ink, watercolor, oils, silversmithing, photography, figure drawing, pencil portraits and pottery.

Her art training includes outreach classes from Garden City and Colby ing works, pencil drawings and pot- community colleges. She said she tery at the Carnegie Arts Center in has been enjoying art for more than 45 years, and her oil painting is influenced by Helen Van Wyk and Margaret Kessler.

"I paint mainly every-day items with which I am familiar or from photographs I have taken," she said.

Smith an Iowa native, has lived in Tribune for more than 50 years. She graduated from Iowa State University with a degree in household equipment.

The center is open from 10 a.m. and from 1 to 4 p.m. Saturday, Sunday and Monday. Admission is free.
