Citizens working on 10-year vision for county

As we continue our efforts working with Terry Woodbury and the Shine on Sherman County Team, we are excited about the next few months.

As you read in the paper earlier, citizens were nominated from the floor at the community conversation to help plan a 10-year vision, set goals, set action teams for those goals and choose conveners to oversee the groups.

The Vision Retreat will be from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Monday, Dec. 4, at the Goodland Elks Lodge. It will be a day full of hard work and positive ideas for the future of Sherman County.

In another effort to learn more about this process, people from Sherman County will be attending the Kansas Conference put on by Terry Woodbury on Friday and Saturday in Hutchinson.

At this conference, we will join leaders from across the state who are working on several of the same issues that we face here.

We will be able to share ideas on what is working and how to go about making our communities even better places to live, work and enjoy.

The Economic Development Council will have its monthly meeting next Tuesday.

At this meeting, we will vote on the two open positions on the board. We will also be going over some proactive steps to build the community, committees and updating our goals.

Tiffani McMinn is Sherman County economic development director.
