No more waiting — full competition has come to Kansas

The wait is over. Greater choices and lower prices for your long-distance telephone service have arrived.

Les Depperschmidt

In January, the Federal Communications Commission gave its stamp of approval to Southwestern Bell-Kansas' application to offer long-distance service, beginning March 7th.

Finally, Kansas has full, open competition for telecommunications, and our customers will benefit through lower prices, greater choices, better service and one-stop shopping. At Southwestern Bell, we're extremely grateful to all those who have supported increased long-distance competition.

Now it's up to consumers to take advantage of this new, expanded marketplace. No one will be switched to another long distance carrier automatically; customers must actively make a call to change their long distance service provider. That's as it should be; it protects you.

The entry of Southwestern Bell's long-distance affiliate into the market is a great benefit for Kansas — one more reason why our state will continue to be a telecommunications leader into the 21st century. Southwestern Bell Long Distance's offering has been a long time coming, but we believe that once Kansans begin to reap the rewards, you'll agree the wait was worth it.

To find out more about Southwestern Bell Long Distance offerings, just call 1-877-PICK-SWB.
