

WITH A BOWL IN HAND, Anita Hirsch, Seeds of Hope Telethon committee member, pointed out which crock and roaster held what kind of soup to Dennis Brown, who is also on the committee. The telethon will be held on Saturday, Feb. 28, at The Gateway.

A ROLL in his hand, Chuck Frickey (above) applied butter before he sat down to enjoy a bowl of soup. In front of the white chili, Dustin Armbruster (right) carried his bowl slowly to put it on his tray.

Hot soup is a perfect meal for cold night

The weather was perfect Tuesday night. It was chilly and breezy, the perfect weather for soup, and that's what around 75 people who attended the annual Seeds of Hope Telethon soup supper enjoyed.

There were several choices of hot soup, from potato to white chili made with chicken instead of beef, vegetable-beef soup and vegetable soup made with elk meat.

To round out the menu, there were homemade rolls by Jeanette Diederich and every kind of dessert imaginable, from bite size brownies to fresh-out-of-the-oven apple pie.

Before the supper started, members of the telethon committee set up tables and chairs and dropped off soups to be served. The tea was made and extension cords set up for several roasters and pots.

Although the supper started at 5 p.m., most people didn't start showing up until 5:30 p.m.

By 7 p.m., the soup was just about gone and the committee members started to clean and pack up the belongings.

The money raised will be thrown into the pot for the telethon on Saturday, Feb. 28, at The Gateway and then will be given out to community organizations.
