Students take over as teachers for day

By SARAH RUF

Students took over the school last Wednesday for the annual National Honor Society Student Teacher Day.

All members of the society were given the opportunity to be a teacher or staff member for a hour or two, or for the whole day.

First-year members could teach one class, juniors could teach two, and senior members could spend all day as a teacher or staff member.

Traditionally, the president of National Honor Society, this year Amber Reynolds, gets to play the part of the principal. Amber spent the day with Mr. Haag, organizing the graduation ceremony and figuring out next year's schedule.

"I enjoyed being the principal for a day," said Amber. "It was a fun and new experience that I will keep as a memory of my senior year."

Vice President Seri Heikes chose to be school counselor for the day. She helped her mother, Nita Lavielle, with the senior exit questionnaire. All seniors are asked a few questions about their high school career prior to graduation.

Andrea Marshall, National Honor Society secretary, spent the day as office secretary Elizabeth Orr. Treasurer Allie Moore also worked in the office all day, as Gina Montgomery.

Dane Anderson, student council representative, taught science classes all day as Mr. Howland.

Other club members who participated were Bayley Bryan, who taught social studies as Mr. Ahlberg; Logan Glaze was in industrial arts as Mr. Andersen, and Sarah Ruf chose to spend the day at the grade school in her mother's fourth grade classroom. Kerrie Olson also worked with her father, Randy Olson, all day as the activities director/junior high science teacher. Abby Ream, Rena Unger, Leah Marietta and Brett Keck were physical education teachers (Mrs. Johnston and Mr. Dreher). Matt Coleman spent the day in the library as Mrs. Glaze.

Brent Smith taught computer classes (Mrs. DeJmal); Kelsey Dorshorst taught math (Mrs. Scott); Rebekah Hasty, art (Mrs. Woolsey); and Kelly Witt, social studies (Mr. Williams).

The juniors who acted as teachers were Keely Olson, junior high math (Mr. Breth); Molly Coleman, algebra and physical science (Mrs. Dorshorst and Mr. Bricker); Gannon Reichert, computers (Mr. Woolsey); Anthony Marshall, band (Mrs. Spanier); Megan Barrett, Kansas history and balancing work and family (Miss Moxter and Mrs. Williams).

"Now I know what it's like to have a class full of students look at a teacher with blank looks on their faces," said Kelly Olson, who taught two hours of junior high math.

Flag team chosen

By KRISTA FOWLER
The new members of the flag team have been chosen for the 2004 school year.

For try-outs, the girls had to learn routines to the school fight song and the song "Everybody Wants to Rule the World."

The new members were chosen by the band director, Deanne Span-ier, and the senior flag line girls, Amber Reynolds, Rebekah Hasty, Jessica Stritt, and Andrea Marshall.

The flag line for 2004-2005 will be Megan Barrett, Karyn Jordan, Dstry Jackson, Sarah Marcuson, Jessica Bremer, and Hana Withington, with Rory Wendelin as an alternate.
