

Frost, Sprinkle

Have fun

Oldsters, youngsters fix holiday cookies

Kids of all ages got the chance to make edible masterpieces Saturday afternoon at Cedar Living Center.

Youngsters joined residents at the center for the third annual Christmas cookie decorating party. There were hundreds of sugar and gingerbread cookies to be decorated.

Dr. Elizabeth Sliter made all the cookies at home and then brought them to the center to be decorated.

The kitchen staff at the center made the frosting, which varied in shades, and Dr. Sliter brought in sprinkles and chocolate chips to put on top.

All of the residents were invited to take part in the party. Quite a few came out for the fun, said activities director Teresa Shaughnessy, although some chose not to.

The handful of kids who came to help decorate took the cookies they decorated home and residents took their cookies back to their rooms.

Miss Shaughnessy said the rest of the cookies were saved for future parties.

SATURDAY AFTERNOON Mollie Tate (above) used bright colored sprinkles to decorate a sugar cookie. She had just finished a gingerbread cookie she used chocolate chips on. Miranda Long (below left) spread icing with a knife. Hank Wolfram (below right) got some help to open up a bottle of sprinkles.

Herald staff photos by Kimberly Davis

WITH SPRINKLES IN HER HAND, Axie Sass (above) decorated a cookie at the center Saturday afternoon. Dakota Tate (right) played with his decorations as he pushed them a little farther into the frosting.