School boards happy with ruling

By VERONICA MONIER

Kansas school boards are not exactly upset that the state Supreme Court has ruled that the state isn't putting enough money into educa-

Bill Curtis, associate executive director of the Kansas Association of School Boards, said at a special meeting last Monday night in Norton that the state Supreme Court's decision validates what the association has been saying all along on school finance.

He said the Montoy vs. State of Kansas decision, in a suit filed by several larger school districts against the state, so far is a short one. A long decision will not be released until after April 13, giving the Legislature time to change the law.

"We'll know on April 13 just how serious the Legislature is about this," he said.

Mr. Curtis said the decision will remain with the Supreme Court and can't be appealed, because the court hasn't closed out the case yet. He said their decision was "per curiam," which means that it was a decision of the entire court, rather than the individual members.

He said the Supreme Court agreed with a District Court decision that the Legislature failed to meet its obligation to suitably finance edu-Mr. Curtis said the high court had ruled in 1992 that school finance law was constitutionally suitable, but it." the law has changed since then and so has Kansas.

"The issue of suitability is not stagnant," he said, "but requires constant monitoring."

That is what makes the present finance law unconstitutional, he added.

"Achievement and student progress has been a part of our finance law since 1992," he said. "Those are part of the basis for No Child Left Behind. We've been doing it since '92. Suitability cannot be just a list of classes. Not if we are going to maintain Kansas' high education standards.'

He said in 2001, the Legislature hired Augenblick and Myers, a consulting firm, to do a study on what a suitable education would cost. When the Legislature didn't like the figure the firm came up with, he said, they shelved the problem.

The district court decision, which was upheld by the Supreme Court, found a lot of changes since 1992 that affected school funding, he said.

Changes fall into two categories — social and legal. Socially, he said more students today live in poverty and more have limited English pro-increase in immigrants and state universities are using more rigorous

He said on the legal side, education goals and the state oversight committee have been removed. There have been changes in enrollment and at-risk weighting. Reductions in taxes have reduced revenue. New facilities and ancillary weighting have been added. Money to pay for special education has been added to local option budgets while state aid has been reduced to 85 percent and the limits on capital outlay have been removed.

state taxes and schools have been forced to raise local taxes.

"Now there are too many school districts relying on local option budgets to pay for general education, rather than using the money for ex-100 percent."

found the 1992 law to be unconstitutional and ruled that the current funding formula didn't meet the legislation's own definition of suitable education. The Supreme Court much it's going to cost and then pay to figure a district's budget were all found by the Supreme Court to be constitutional, and now educators will have to show what the costs are.

would have to provide $853 million to finance education, which is $263 million more than it gives now.

"Local option budget is not to be used to finance general education," he said. "This is not going to be dollars raised in Norton County, but dollars raised statewide is what I think the Supreme Court is saying.'

enrollment weighting would be taken out of school finance, but schools will have to prove the costs.

aware that the decision raises questions about continuing the present financing formula until fixed.

"If the Legislature doesn't do anything at all, will schools be shut 16 members, but there were no voldown?," he said. "I don't know.

'What I do know is that now is the time that everybody needs to work together. Rural legislators need to help urban legislators and they, in turn, need to help their rural coun-

FLAMES LICKED through the roof of a house in Norcatur and Kim Mayo, 503 E. Opelik, suffered smoke and water damtra expenses, as was intended," he last Tuesday night as volunteer firemen cut through the age, but the couple said they will rebuild. shingles to get at the blaze. The house, the home of Randall

— Herald photo by Carolyn Plotts

Fire wakes volunteers from their sleep

By CAROLYN PLOTTS

Norcatur city firemen were rousted from their beds about 11 p.m. last Tuesday by the town's siren. The home of Randall and Kim Mayo on the east edge of town was

Mr. Mayo said he had just stepped into the kitchen of his home at 503 East Opelik when he heard a "pop" and a "crack". He said he saw fire in the ceiling where he and his wife have been remodeling. The Mayos stove on the south end of the house both the rural and city fire depart- surprised there was no more smoke later was determined to be the cause of the blaze.

telephone, Mrs. Mayo said, she walked three blocks to the home of her mother-in-law, Jeannie Pelkey, to get help and she dialed 911.

County dispatch at 11:03 p.m. and partment about 45 minutes to extin- the rest of the house. We're thankfiremen arrived on the scene at 11:08.

heat with two wood stoves, and the spond to the siren with trucks from house cleaning up. She said she was did."

ments," said Norcatur Fire Chief C.W. Lyon. "We had to cut a hole Since the Mayos do not have a in the roof to ventilate it and to get to the fire. It's just one of those things we have to do.'

sand dollars worth of damage was see. For right now, they are going to The call came into Decatur done by the fire, which took his de-block off the kitchen and just live in

On Wednesday, Mrs. Pelkey said "We had about 10 volunteers re- the entire family had been at the lucky not to have lost more than they damage. Most of the mess was from water damage.

"They are going to need a new roof on at least half of it," Mrs. Pelkey said, "but they didn't have Mr. Lyon estimated several thou- any insurance, so we'll just have to ful there weren't any injuries.

"Randy and Kim think they are

Conference topics will center around farming

The Cover Your Acres winter ag west Implement, Hoxie Implement, $25 per person. The fee includes all loss in windbreaks and more. Northwest Kansas Crop Residue conference will be held Thursday, Redball with Colby Implement, of the meetings, breakfast, lunch Feb. 3, at The Gateway, sponsored DuPont Ag with Pioneer Hybrids, and dinner. by Kansas State University and and the High Plains Sunflower Committee.

Industry sponsors include South- closed last week, the price is now dryland soybean production, tree

Since early registration was duction, no-till crop production, Colby, Kan. 67701.

All checks should be payable to Kansas State University and mailed Among topics that will be dis- to the Northwest Area Extension cussed will be corn versus milo pro-Office, Attn: Brian Olson, Box 786

Business alliance needs a chairman for 2005

The Oberlin Business Alliance is liance aren't downtown. looking for a volunteer to lead the

The group met Wednesday, Jan. 12, at the LandMark Inn with about unteers to be chairman. Judy Scott of Sappa Valley Youth Ranch ran the meeting, but said she only

Connie Grafel, marketing director for the Gateway, said a lot of people who support the business al-

The discussion will continue at

She said she thought the chairman

the February meeting.

ask the antique stores to join. She next meeting.

said maybe they could offer one fee for the Antique Guild to join. The ance could invite some of the guild group talked with Gary Anderson, owner of the LandMark Inn and a member of the guild, about the group joining the alliance. He said Ms. Grafel suggested the group he would talk to the members at their was popular, though Gary Brug-

Ms. Grafel said maybe the allimembers to the February meeting.

Alliance members talked about the holiday giveaway.

The "second chance" drawing geman was the only winner.

MACHINERY AUCTION

Sat., Feb. 12, 2005 • 11:00 AM

LOCATION: 11 1/2 miles south of Cambridge, Nebraska on Highway 47 and 1/2 mile east OR 1/2 north of Highway 89-47 junction and 1/2 mile east. Lunch will be served.

SELLERS: Manuel and Margalee Ruf AUCTIONEER'S NOTE: Manuel and Margalee are retir-LOADER AND TRACTOR

ing from farming and feeding cattle and are offering a nice line of equipment that has been well-cared for, and most of which has been shedded. There are very few small items, so be on time! TRUCKS AND CAR

w/hoist, 62" sides, 5x2 speed, 34,000 miles

Ford F-600 truck w/BJM 400 cubic ft. mixer box, 37,000 miles 1949 Pontiac Silverstreak, 2-dr., runs and always shedded, ready to be restored. Motor has been over-hauled.

MISC. EQUIPMENT & ANTIQUES

Speeco Quick hitch, John Deere wagon hoist, early 50's • Westfield 60-31 auger, 6"x31' w/electric motor • Gehl 10'x5' feedwagon, pull type • Continental hyd., shop press • Pressure washer • One-row horse-drawn cultivator • AccuTrack guidance system, Model 3NE, SN: J421911J1h • John Deere 654A Row crop head • John Deere 2 row 36" 3970 silage cutter - pickup head • 20' John Deere P.U. reel

PLANTERS AND DRILLS

2-John Deere 9300, 8'x10" w/liquid fertilizer, squeeze pump, drill model 9000, SNs: 029194 and 029156, always shedded John Deere 7100 planter, liquid fertilizer, row splitter shanks, 6-row, 36", Buffalo boxes, model 7100, SN: 019505

1983 Case W20C Payloader, 3-yd. bucket

1983 Case 7130, 5300 hrs., duals, triple-hyd., w/12' Otter dozer to be sold separately

TILLAGE EQUIPMENT

Sunflower 20' offset disc, Model #1331-20, SN: 1392-130 Mulcher, 5-shank ripper w/anhydrous attachments Case 20' flopper chopper

Sunflower 27' field cultivator, Model #523127, SN: 5290071 Sunflower 21' chisel plow, Model #B21 SN: 75290 Springtooth, 24'

John Deere 88, 6-row x 36" cultivator, SN: N00885X002014 Hinicker 6-row x 36" cultivator Flex-King 4x5 sweep plow w/NH3 and harrows

HAY EQUIPMENT

John Deere 400, 21' rotary hoe

New Holland side delivery rake

John Deere 1380 14 swather, SN: 561687

Not responsible for accidents. All guarantees are between sellers and buyers. No items are to e removed until paid for. Announcements Day of Sale take precedence over printed matter

Johnson Realty, Inc.

122 South Penn, Oberlin, KS 67749 • Roberta Johnson, Broker

Lynn A. Johnson, Associate Broker/Auctioneer Call Lynn A. Johnson for sale bill or information: 785-475-2785 - Mobile 785-475-8514

For information, call listing agent Roger Emigh, cell: 785-567-8021 or home: 308-895-2287

Jacqueline Votapka, Salesperson Joe D. Green, Salesperson/Auctioneer Roger Emigh, Salesperson/Auctioneer Randy Ostmeyer, Salesperson nemann, Salesperson Shirley Simpson, Salesperson Jerry Lohoefener, Salesperson Marcia Lohoefener, Salesperson Michael Wilson, Salespersor

first week of November.

admissions standards.

Most of all, the Legislature cut said. "The state also continues to fund special education at less than Mr. Curtis said the district court

"It's the state's responsibility to fund suitable education," he said. "Now, they have to find out how

He said the weighting factors used

He said it was figured that the state

Mr. Curtis said he didn't think

He said the Supreme Court is organization for 2005.

wanted to do it that one time.

should be someone who is down-

Christmas is a Ho-Ho-Whole

> lot more fun when you

PLAN AHEAD!

Announcing the

First National Bank Christmas Club

'Tis the season to start socking away savings for Christmas 2005. Join our Christmas Club today and begin a little stocking stuffer that will make your Christmas future merry and bright.

- No maximum monthly deposit
- Account can be debited on the 5th or 20th of each month beginning in January. • If started later than January, you can catch up or
- continue from that point. • FNB will issue a check to the depositor(s) the 24 Hour Telephone Banking 890-2777 or (800) 899-7977

www.fnb.com Bird City, Colby, Goodland, Kirk, Oberlin, Quinter, Sharon Springs, St. Francis

FDI®