Minimally invasive surgery uses sophisticated techniques and specialized tools to perform surgery through dime-sized incisions requiring only a stitch or two to close, thus eliminating large incisions and extensive post-operative care.

Minimally invasive surgery offers distinct advantages to the patient:

- Greater surgical precision for improved patient outcomes
- Smaller incisions reduce trauma and pain
- Risks of infection and blood loss are reduced
- Many minimally invasive surgical procedures allow patients to return home the same day
- Smaller incisions mean smaller scars—usually just one centimeter or less in length

• Recovery time is shorter, allowing patients to resume work and normal activity much earlier than traditional surgeries

If your diagnosis calls for surgery, ask your primary care physician about the minimally invasive surgical procedures offered at Southwind Surgical or call 785-623-5945 for more information.
