

Who? What? When? Museum plays 'Name that picture'

The bride and groom smiled from the photo — young, radiant, ready to start a life together.

But, we don't know them. The photo was among items moved from Fred and Henrietta Bremer's home and it came into the possession of Sharon Addleman. Sharon put the photo on the front counter of Addleman's Drug Store hoping someone would see it and remember the young couple, who got married 50, 60 maybe even 70 years ago.

So far, no one has but Sharleen Wurm, curator of the Decatur County Museum smiled at it sadly, noting that she has boxes of such pictures. Wonderful formal portraits, family photos and a few candid shots and no one seems to know when the pictures were taken or who the subjects are.

Sharleen said she had even taken some of her pictures up to the nursing homes in the hopes that older eyes would spot someone they knew and one or two little mysteries would be solved. However, she said, she had little luck.

So we're trying for a larger audience. Does anyone out there know any of these people? All the photos, except the bride and groom, are taken from the museum archives.

Anyone who can identify any of these people should call Sharleen at (785) 475-2712, write her at 258 S. Penn Ave., Oberlin, Kan. 67749 or e-mail her at firm@sbgobal.net.

NO. 1 — Who is this happy couple?

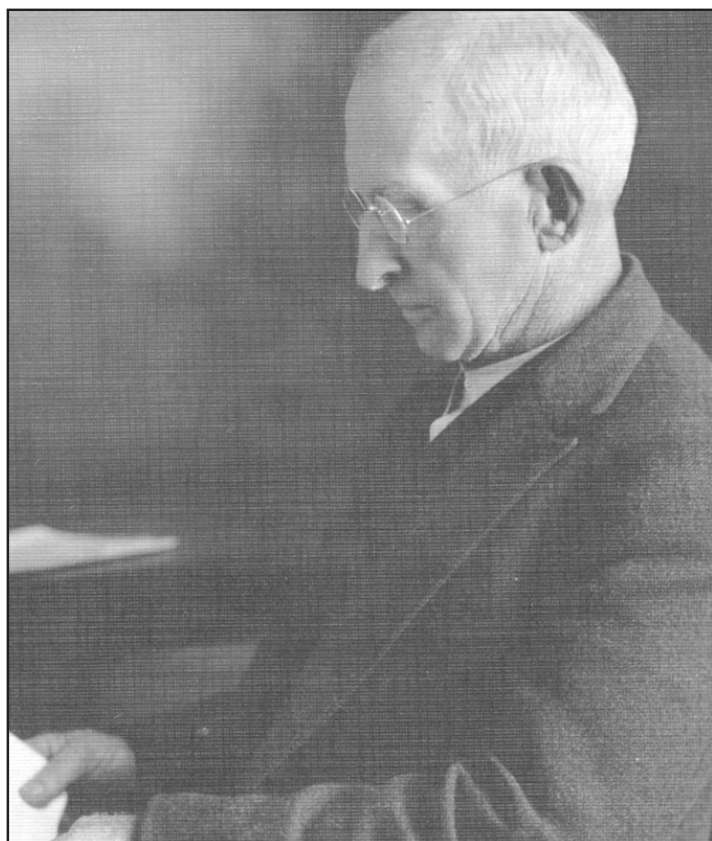

NO. 2 — Name these two well-dressed young men.

NO. 3 — Is this a board of directors, a covey of lawyers or a very small Rotary Club?

NO. 4 — Can you identify this Red Devil fan?

NO. 5 — Could this man be a relative?

NO. 6 — Name this little girl.