Activities have been planned for the all day Quasquicentennial Celebration in Oberlin on Saturday.

For the past year a volunteer committee has worked on providing fun activities throughout the year for the 125th anniversary of the city. There's been a vintage baseball game, band concert and other fun events.

During the Mini Sapa Celebration Saturday at the Last Indian Raid Museum the town will celebrate its 125 years of history.

Activities will include:

- 7 to 9 a.m. pancake feed at the Bohemian Hall.
- 8 to 9 a.m. DCHS Singers at the Bohemian Hall.
- 9 to 9:30 a.m. DCHS Melodrama at the Bohemian Hall.
- Geocaching all day around the community.
- 1 to 8 p.m. Friday and from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Saturday, quilt show at the Golden Age

Center.

- 10 a.m. anniversary parade downtown.
- Indian Dancers performance following the parade on south side of the courthouse.
- Noon to 1 p.m. lunch by donation at the Bohemian Hall.
- 1 p.m. trail ride starting at the Oberlin Cemetery.
- 1 to 1:30 p.m. DCHS Melodrama in the Bohemian Hall.
- 1:30 to 2 p.m. Prairie Statesman chorus in the Bohemian Hall.
- 2 to 2:45 p.m. Community Band performance on the south side of the courthouse.
- 2:45 p.m. opening the time capsule on west courthouse lawn.
- 3:15 p.m. Indian Dancers perform on the south side of the courthouse.
- 3 to 5 p.m. museum opens for tours, free admission.
- 5 p.m. to 1 a.m. supper and dance at the Oberlin American Legion.
- 7:30 p.m. Indian Dancers performance at The Gateway.

OUTSIDE The Last Indian Raid Museum at the south end of the Main Street sits this sign.
