

AT THE Good Samaritan Center Opal Bryan and Dorothy Hunt stop to pet a dog during the pet parade.

Kids parade pets at senior center

Get out the fancy collars, cages and costumes for the annual pet parade at the Good Samaritan Center.

The annual pet parade held at the center during the Decatur County Fair is open to anyone wanting to bring their pet. Pets of any and all sizes and shapes are welcome.

The parade will start at 1:30 p.m. Friday, Aug. 5.

Pet owners are asked to bring their pet to show off. Past parades have included pets that could do tricks, from dancing to rolling over to just sitting. Other pets wore clothes or had their nails painted pink.

During the parade, the owners have a chance to introduce themselves and their pet to the judges. They then get to show off a trick or two to the residents at the nursing home and the parents who accompany their youngsters to the event.

All entries receive a certificate of some sort, whether it be for best dressed, best behaved, oldest, youngest, smallest, biggest or slimmest pet.

Anyone who wants to take their pet to the parade should be at the center a little early to allow time to register.

There's no cost to enter.
