Oberlin students looking to clean up

By CASSIDY SHIELDS
Every fall, Oberlin students in grades 5-12 come together to rake leaves for people in the community.
This year the cleanup will be the Monday before Halloween.
The upper grades partner with the lower, load up in trucks, and go to work raking leaves for a few hours. While this tradition is widely known throughout the community, how it originated might not be.
Back in 1925, superintendent Caleb W. Smick, came up with the idea of Halloween Clean Up with the goal of improving the community. After gaining support from the school and community, he handed the project off to the students.
The students began to organize everything and even advertised in the local paper. The students planned to divide up in groups, rake all the yards, and meet back at the school for hot dogs. The plan went off without a hitch, which is why it still continues today.
The teachers chose five seniors as captains and then from that list, the students choose the general. This year's captains are Megan Wentz, Nolan Henningson, Tyler Shields, and Brent Juennemann. Dalton Jones was picked for general.
If you would like your yard raked, please call the high school at 785-475-2231.

Choir members to sing in Hays

By MIRANDA SHELTON
Sierra Hendrickson, Kassidie Jensen, Miranda Long, Ara Marine-Singleton, Meghan Davies, Max Diederich, Kaitlynn Fisher, Keagen Blau and Gatlin Hissong were selected to represent Decatur County at the Kansas Music Educators Association Junior High Choir in Hays at 4 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 5, at the high school.
To be selected, students had to learn a song and perform it in front of music teacher Susan Nelson. She then picked the top 10 percent of all who auditioned.
They practice during school to prepare for the big day. When they get to Hays, they will practice with a different clinician to perfect their song.
Mrs. Nelson hopes that the students get new ideas from the clinician. She hopes that it inspires them to stay in vocal and become better leaders from what they learn.
"Anything they can do to expand their singing with others will help them learn more about music," said Mrs. Nelson.
