Free organ recital planned for Nov. 6

A free organ concert is planned for 2 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 6, at Faith Evangelical Lutheran Church in Oberlin, featuring Melody Turnquist-Steed, assistant professor of music at Bethany College, Linsborg.

Dr. Turnquist-Steed teaches organ and music theory serves as the chapel organist and coordinator of sacred music for the college.

The concert is part of the 50th anniversary observance of the merger of Faith and Enne/Bethel Lutheran churches.

It is sponsored by the Doreen and Carl Frickey Music and Worship Fund and by Charles and Diane Frickey in cooperation with the Oberlin Arts and Humanities Commission.

Anative Iowan, Dr. Steed received degrees in organ performance from the University of Northern Iowa, the University of Cincinnati and the University of Southern California. Before coming to Bethany, she was the organist at the Westwood United Methodist Church in Los Angeles, where she presided at the Shaffer Memorial Organ.

Dr. Steed has been a featured performer at regional and national conventions of the American Guild of Organists. She has recorded two compact discs with trumpeter Keith Benjamin, "Clarion, New Music for Trumpet and Organ," and "New Vintage." She has performed both as an organ soloist and as a member of "Clarion" in Hungary and Romania.

Donations will be accepted for the Bethany music department. Refreshments will be served following the concert. For information, call Ella Betts at (785) 475-3557 or Mary Henzel at 470-0218.

Rotary hears talk on banking regulations

Gary Walter, president of the Bank, spoke at the Oct. 18 meeting of the Oberlin Rotary Club.

Mr. Walter, who has been in the banking business since 1982, explained the "Burdens and Regulations of the Banking Business." He said banks need to be regulated because some people will choose profits over integrity. Mr. Walter was introduced by program chair Bob Gaskill.

Past President Jim Hollowell, conducted the meeting with Gary Anderson greeting members and visitors. Junior Rotarians from Decatur Community High were Shay McChesney and Tracy Hoppal. Shay won Roto-Lotto.

Paying a fine for 43 years of marriage was Jim Hollowell. Sergeant at Arms Rhonda May fined all fans of Kansas State University, the University of Wisconsin and Green Bay football teams. She also collected fines from fans of Decatur Community High School cross country and volley ball teams.

The doors open at 9 a.m. with coffee and rolls served while you shop. A bake sale will begin with a "cookie walk," offering cookies for 25 cents each. Handmade items will also be for sale.

Lunch will be served beginning at 11 a.m., including ham and beans, white chili, cornbread and dessert for a donation. A silent auction for filled baskets will close at 3 p.m.

"The Secret's Out" church cookbook will be on sale at $18 each.

Proceeds will go to support church projects.

Couple to receive award

Gaylord and Shirley Shields of Oberlin have been selected to receive the 2011 Modern Woodmen Outstanding Citizens Award for their volunteer work in the community and their church.

Mr. and Mrs. Shields will be honored with a smothered-steak banquet at 7 p.m. Thursday, Nov. 3, at St. John's Lutheran Church.

If you would like to attend, call Marie McKisson of the Oberlin Camp of Modern Woodmen, 475-2927, for reservations. Tickets are $4.50 for adults and $3 for children under 5.

Family to perform in Colby

The Hunt Family will give a concert at 3 p.m., Sunday, at the Colby College Cultural Arts Center, performing Celtic, bluegrass, inspirational and original music.

In addition to fiddling and step dancing, this family of nine also plays guitar, bass, keys, drums and mandolin. The Hunts have performed from Scotland to Ireland to Canada and all over the United States.

They offer workshops in strings, fiddle, guitar, songwriting and Irish step dance. They say the goal of their school shows and workshops is to educate people and promote the arts while instilling a passion for music, song and dance.

The performance is presented by the Western Plains Arts Association, and admission is by season ticket or at the door, adults $20 and students $10. Special rates of $5 per student are available for groups of 20 or more with prior arrangements. Call Pat Ziegelmeier at (785) 460-5518.

Prizes offered for essays

Entries are being accepted for the annual Kansas Factual Story Contest, sponsored by the Native Sons and Daughters of Kansas, which encourages preservation of unpublished happenings and anecdotes in the lives of Kansans today and yesterday.

Olive Ann Beech of Wichita provided cash awards for winners for over 30 years. Following her death, her daughter, Mary Lynn Oliver of Wichita, has continued this support.

The awards are, first place, $175; second, $125; third, $100; and $50 each for two honorable mentions. Entries will not be returned. The Kansas State Historical Society may preserve stories in their collections.

Stories should have taken place in Kansas, be limited to 750 words, be true and not have been published before. The contest is open to anyone but only one story may be submitted per person.

Entries must be submitted by e-mail no later than Friday, Nov. 18, to Terry Marmet, Kansas Historical Foundation, at membership@kshs.org. In the subject area put "Beech Memorial Contest." The author's name, mailing address and phone number must be included.

Winners will be announced and recognized at the annual meeting of the Native Sons and Daughters in Topeka on Friday, Jan. 27.

Woman farmers can apply

Grant to help Golden Age

The kitchen at the Golden Age Center is one step closer to becoming a fully equipped meal preparation site, thanks, in part, to a $500 grant from Midwest Energy to help repair one of the ovens at the Senior Meal Site.

"We appreciate Midwest Energy's support," said center manager

Dorothy Moore. "This repair will bring us closer to using our kitchen as a cooking center. We will be able to prepare our own meals and not have them cooked in Atwood anymore."

Helen Gee manages the meal site.

Herndon boy wins contest

Donovan Schroeder, 12, Herndon, was one of three winners for the northwest region in the annual "Put the Brakes of Fatalities Day" poster contest. Others were Aaron Moore, Oakley, and Indigo Anne Guise, WaKeeney.

Each will receive a bicycle donated by the Hays Walmart store and a helmet donated by Safe Kids Kansas.

Donnovan, son of Jim and Destiny Schroeder, got his bike and helmet during an assembly on Oct. 18 at the Rawlins County Junior High in Atwood. He is in seventh grade.

A total of 642 entries were received across the state, with 18 youths receiving regional and statewide recognition. The contest helps make people aware of the need to reduce traffic deaths. Transportation organizations sponsor the event.

For information, go to the website www.brakesonfatalities.org.

Application cutoff is Nov. 15

The application cutoff date will be Tuesday, Nov. 15, for the Environmental Quality Incentives Program and the Wildlife Habitat Incentives Program, two programs which help farmers improve their land.

Applications are accepted year around, but those received by the deadline will be evaluated for Fiscal Year 2012 grants.

For information, go to ks.nrcs.usda.gov/programs or stop by the county U.S. Department of Agriculture Service Center.

Parents and piano students of Cheryl Metcalf and Mary Henzel attended a 35th Anniversary Celebration of the North Central Kansas Music Teachers League Piano Clinic in Phillipsburg on Saturday.

Present was Marj Kramer of Fort Morgan, Colo., founder of the piano clinic in this area. She served as a judge along with Brenda Tincher, Kearney, Neb.; Karol Hickel, WaKeeney; Pat Ziegelmeier, Colby; and John Huber, Fort Hays State University. Mr. Huber was one of the first judges to participate in these clinics, which started in Goodland.

Students performing solo and duet pieces throughout the morning included Isaac and Patience Carman, Cori and Judith Isbell, Erin May and Maddie Johnson, Daniel Lerew, Kade and Isabel Grafel, Mollie Tate, Elizabeth Nedland, Clayton and Anna Carter and Michael Noren. Several were chosen to play in the final recital or received honorable mention. Stanton Nelson, a University of Kansas junior who grew up attending the piano clinics, played one of his compositions to conclude the program.
