He was born Nov. 13, 1932, at the home of his parents, Vance and Erna (Zimmerman) Huff, near Lyle in northeast Decatur County and was reared on the family farm. He attended Spring Branch School and graduated from Decatur Community High School in 1952.

He married Donna Marie McClure on Oct. 25, 1953, in Oberlin, and they moved to a farm in the Lyle area. He served in the Army from 1955 to 1957, and while he was stationed at Vashon Island, his wife lived in Seattle. After his honorable discharge, the couple returned to their farm.

He started helping his father on the family farm at an early age and enjoyed farming for most of his adult life. He was a Jehovah's Witness and a past Grant Township trustee.

He served as a staff driver at 5th Army Headquarters in Chicago from January 1955 through his discharge in December 1956.

He married Reva Snyder on Dec. 24, 1959, in Oberlin. They moved to Syracuse and he worked on a farm for Arthur "Pete" Burns for 10 years. He raised his own hogs until he was hurt in a farm accident Dec. 8, 1969, after which the family moved back to Decatur County. He began working for Bill Matchett at his welding shop in 1971.

In 1973, he took a job as mechanic for Koch Oil, where he worked for 25 years until he retired in 1998. He opened a repair shop in Oberlin in 1998, where he did repairs on small engines and sold antiques, but sold it in 2004 when his health began to fail.

He had a passion for antique cars and tractors and restored several cars, but his 1927 Chevy and 1928 Whippet were his pride and joy. He was a member of the Mini Sappa

Antique Club of Oberlin.

Survivors include his wife, Reva of the home; a son, Lawrence, Oberlin; two daughters, Tami (Brian) Cook, rural Norton County, and Penny (Robert) Fringer, Oberlin; a brother, Neil Marshall, and his mother-in-law, Dorothy Hunt, Oberlin; eight grandchildren; and 14 great-grandchildren.

He was preceded in death by his parents; two brothers, Ronald and Jerry Marshall; a half-sister, Ethel Roden, and a brother-in-law, Ron Snyder.

Funeral services were Saturday afternoon at Pauls Funeral Home in Oberlin with Gary Zodrow and Dale Snyder officiating and burial in the Norcatut Cemetery with military rites by the Oberlin American Legion Post.
