Oberlin gets all Is

Snowy weather could not deter the Decatur Community High School band and choir students from performing at the State Large Group Music Festival held in Colby last Wednesday.

Snow and slick roads caused the school district to start classes at 10 a.m. last Wednesday, but once all students arrived at school, the band and choir loaded up and left to perform in Colby – three hours later than anticipated.

Music festival organizers at Colby worked with the Oberlin instructors and were able to re-schedule the Oberlin band and choir later in the day.

In spite of the rough start, both the band and the choir received all I's, the best rating possible. Three adjudicators judged the band, and three adjudicators judged the choir. All six judges gave I's to the Oberlin singers and musicians.
